RESERVE BOARD WEEKS TO AVERT STOCK CRASH

Money May End Speculation.

Stocks Go Tumbling

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—The Chicago redcount of the Chicago stock market broke in prices on the New York Stock Exchange since July 11, 1914.

Declines ranged from one to 13 points, wiping out millions in "paper" profits. The average drop of 35 representative industrial and railroad was 4.41.

General Motors, one of the market leaders, fell 8 points, while Radio lost 15%. Du Pont de Nemours slid down 16%; Case Farming Machine, 14%; Wright Aero, 3%; U. S. Steel, 4%, and so on down the list.

ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.

Washington, D. C., July 11.—[Special.]—How to put the brakes on the early speculation in Wall street and stop a stock market crash is giving the federal reserve board increasing concern.

Steps to make speculation too expensive a luxury to indulge in have been taken to produce the desired results. The volume of credit available to speculation has been contracted by the outflow of $500,000,000 in gold in the last six months and by the sale of government securities by the reserve banks in the open market without appreciable discounting the speculators.

Higher Rate in New York.

The initiation of a more drastic method of dealing with the situation is anticipated by the approval by the federal reserve board of the action of the Chicago Federal Reserve bank in increasing its discount rate from 4 to 5 per cent. The New York, 6 per cent bank is expected to adopt the 5 per cent rate within the next week or two, possibly at its meeting tomorrow.

The other reserve bank cities are expected to follow the example of Chicago.

5 per cent rate on redcounts.

It is not accomplished the desired result of making it too expensive to borrow money for speculation, the rate probably will be given another boost.

Based on Republican Party.

The influence of the Coolidge administration is being exerted in the direction of a stabilization of the security market for the welfare, not only of the country, but of the Republican party. The G. O. P. is making its bid for retention in power as largely responsible for the country's prosperity and capable of assuring that the country will not be plunged into a crash before election day, the psychological effect would be unfavorable to the Republicans, possibly to a disastrous extent.

Per cent is the highest redcount rate in the federal reserve system since 1922.

That the tide of speculation has not been stemmed by efforts in that direction up to date, is indicated by the fact that last week the amount of stock obtained from reserve banks amounted to $100,000,000 and was double the volume of a year ago. Brokers' sales increased $150,000,000 and aggregated $1,000,000,000 more than a year ago.

Now Unfortunate Trend.

Charles E. Mitchell, president of the National City bank of New York, in a warning said that the heavy borrowing of the banks through rehypothecating and their lending of the money on stock and bond collateral, which is not redcountable at the reserve banks, are reducing the liquid assets of the banks and creating a situation, which, if not actually dangerous, reflects a trend that is unfortunate.

The federal reserve system now is endeavoring to protect the country.

by reducing the amount of money which followed its action in lowering discount rates from 4 to 5 per cent a year ago for the purpose of stabilizing the London money market. This action was taken to prevent the banks following information obtained upon them by Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, and the heads of the French and German central banks during a visit they made to this country for the purpose of obtaining this concession.

Strong of the New York reserve bank was instrumental in putting the Chicago bank in a position to obtain the concession.

RASKOB CHOSEN CHAIRMAN; BIG BUSINESS MAN

"No Pussyfooting or Mud Slinging."

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, July 11.—[Special.]—Al Smith threw another political bombshell today, and by his boldness proved that he and he alone is dictator of the northern machinery of the Democratic party.

He made John J. Raskob of Claymont, Del., a militant Catholic, a militant wet, and the personification of big business, chairman of the Democratic committee. And Raskob is listed in "Who's Who" as a Republican, though he has recently said he voted for Wilson twice.

The governor's choice plunged some of the southern notables into deep meditation, if not acute apprehension. Gov. Harry Byrd of Virginia, who, like his brother, the flying explorer, is a careful speaking man, meditated audibly on the fact that a change of thirteen votes per precinct would move dry Virginia into the Republican column.

Alabama Worried.

Alabama also was worried by the choice of the Catholic devotee and the militant wet, who is a private chamberlain of the pope's lay household, a knight of St. Gregory, and a charter member of the American chapter of the Knights of Malta, and who last February gave half a million dollars for the advancement and preservation of the Catholic faith in Wilmington, Del., and promised half a million more on condition that an equal sum was raised by subscription.

North Carolina worried out loud about the fact that the Tar Heel state's Democratic majority today is only 93,000, and that in the late nineties the state went hell bent to Populism and Republicanism, with the result that for a while it had only three Democrats in congress out of a dozen members.

Bait for Big Business.

But Al Smith chose John Raskob, the big man of General Motors and one of the principal fiscal founts of the Association Against the Eighteenth Amendment, not because he is a fellow churchman and a wet. He chose him because he wants to make the Democratic party safe for big business.

A few days ago he said to one of his talkative confidants: "Four years ago I figured it out. Business men, I know, liked John W. Davis, the big constitutional lawyer, but they voted against him because they were afraid of his teardrop. They feared the Democratic party more than they liked Davis."

His Hand in Platform.

Now that is why Al Smith—and 'twas he and no other that did it—had the kind words about big business put in the Houston platform, together with soothing tariff assurances. He did that to reassure big business generally.

He also knows—and has said so—that the spirit of business respectability lent a lot of his campaign.

And John J. Raskob is that spirit. The choice of Raskob as chairman was not the candidate's sole maneuver on this busy day of high political strategy.

He had his old friend, Col. Herbert P. Lehman, Jewish banker and philanthropist of New York, made chairman of the finance committee of the Democratic committee. The colonel is very rich. He just gave a dormitory to Williams College. His firm—Lehman Brothers, 18 Williams street—is one of the important financing institutions of New York City. And one of the colonel's brothers is a Republican.

With Raskob and Lehman marching at his side, Al Smith has in a day gone further on the road to "Safe and Sane" than at any time since he drew Charles Evans Hughes to his side when he was confronted with problems arising out of the constitutional charges that reorganized the government of the state of New York.

When he drew Hughes to him he disarmed opposition to some of his most important policies. He believes he has done considerable along the same lines by his masterly playing of his cards today.

When the much married Clem

Air Inventor, Woman Pupil Crash to Death

Snyder, Pa., July 11.—[Special.]—Morris Titterton, inventor of the earth inductor compass and other safety devices for airplanes, and Mrs. Patricia Perry Andrews crashed to their death near here this afternoon, when their plane, piloted by Titterton, nose dived into a mountain side in the midst of a heavy electrical storm.

Titterton had won fame in the new aeronautical safety instrument field. His compass was used by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his historic flight to Paris and by other ocean flyers.

Pilot Loses Control.

Flying over the mountains close to this town the plane ran into a fierce windstorm.

Witnesses said the inventor fought desperately to head off disaster, and for a moment or two straightened the plane out, but a minute later it went into a nose dive at a height of about 500 feet and crashed into the mountain side.

Titterton was thrown clear of the plane, but the woman's body was found tightly lashed in the cockpit.

Mrs. Andrews was divorced in Williamsport, Pa., two years ago. For the last two years she had been engaged in motion picture work. She leaves a son four years old.

Army Flyer Killed.

Payette, Ia., July 11.—(P)—Falling 300 feet from his airplane, Lieut. Keith Rocco, 30, an army pilot from Selfridge field, Mich., was killed two miles south of here this afternoon.

Edward Hines Taken to Hospital for Observation

Edward Hines, the lumber merchant, is a patient at Mercy hospital, where he was taken on Monday for observation. At his home, 1456 Ridge avenue, Evanston, it was said that, although Mr. Hines' illness is not serious, physicians had advised that he be taken to the hospital for tests from which the best course of treatment might be determined.

STONE WALLS AND LAUNDRY AROUSE LAKE FOREST IRE

"Walls do not a prison make," but a number of residents of Lake Forest last night complained to the city council that "Lake Forest looks like Joliet," with high stone walls protecting the estates of the wealthy from the view of passers-by in the shore suburb.

A second complaint sought to prohibit laundresses from gathering soiled linen on Sunday and allowing it to lie about their homes during the day, where neighboring children are subjected to the germs therefrom. This matter was referred to the police committee, of which Ald. Fred Held, a laundryman, is a member.

Several residents entered complaints on the construction of the various stone walls, and reference was particularly made to the barrier erected by E. H. Bennett, Chicago architect, and to those of W. E. Clow Jr. and Wallace Winter, under construction. All three estates are located near Deerpath avenue and Green Bay road.

Dr. Michelson Is in Hospital for Operation

Prof. Albert A. Michelson, University of Chicago scientist, has been under observation at the Presbyterian hospital since Tuesday night and will undergo a bladder operation shortly. It was learned last night. Dr. Michelson is 75 years old.

Dr. Herman L. Kretschmer, who attended the patient, stated that he is "rather ill," and it was deemed advisable to perform the operation before Prof. Michelson leaves Chicago on a trip to California.

Last month Prof. Michelson was attacked by what was considered a slight digestive disorder and was persuaded to stay in the Albert Merritt Billings hospital in order that his diet might be regulated, it was said. During that time he carried on his work and played chess with his friends.

Ten days ago he left the hospital apparently fully recovered and made plans for his trip to Mount Wilson observatory in California. It is his expectation to continue there his experiments on the speed of light.

But with the recurrence of the ailment several days ago Prof. Michelson's physicians advised that he enter a hospital for the operation before his recovery west. The trip has been postponed until after his recuperation.

ORDERED TO STAY IN JAIL TO WORK OUT $30,000 DEBT

S. H. Harneski, former president of the Crofts and Reed Perfume company, yesterday failed in an attempt to end his six months servitude in the county jail. Judge I. L. Weaver ruled that the County court lacked jurisdiction of his plea since it was Circuit Judge Francis Wilson, who sentenced Harneski for contempt.

Harneski was found guilty by Judge Wilson of refusing to pay $30,000 to the creditors of his company as compensation for 2,100 gallons of alcohol that Harneski is alleged to have taken from the factory.

Harneski yesterday renewed his plea before Judge Weaver that he didn't have $30,000 and couldn't produce that amount while in jail. As far as the County court is concerned, he must remain in jail until the $30,000 is paid.

Farmer-Labor Picks Norris Despite His No

United States Senator George W. Norris of Nebraska was nominated for president by the Farmer-Labor party last night, despite his refusal to haul any third party ticket. The Prohibition party, also in national convention in Chicago, failed to reach the nominating stage at its night session but it was said there that its nomination would not be offered to Norris.

Will Vereen of Moultrie, Ga., was named for the vice presidency by the Farmer-Labor organization. He is said to be a millionaire cotton mill owner who has supported the Socialist ticket occasionally, but has never been identified with the Farmer-Labor group. His nomination stirred a row when charges were made that he operated a nonunion plant and has never been either a farmer or a laboring man.

Only 30 Delegates Ballot.

The attendance at the convention of the party that once created a stir in northwestern states had dwindled to thirty at the time of balloting. Norris received 15 votes on the third ballot, Norman Thomas, the Socialist nominee for president getting the other 14. On the first ballot Norris received 14, Thomas 11, and 6 votes went to Gale Flanagan, a delegate from Mason City, Ia.

Vereen was opposed for the vice presidency by Mrs. Vera June Pease, who received 9 votes, and Western Starr, who had 3 supporters.

The farmer-labor delegates had previously adopted a platform not as dry as some wished it to be, but as a compromise declaring merely for "enforcement of all laws."

Other Farm-Labor Planks.

They declared for the abolition of injunctions in labor disputes, farm relief with the equalization fee, scrapping all implements of warfare, with drawal of United States marines from Nicaragua and a policy of noninterference in Latin American affairs. Public ownership of Boulder Dam and Muscle Shoals was favored.

The nomination of Norris came after a telegram had been received from a correspondent who had been asked to ascertain whether Senator Norris would accept. The reply was: "Negative absolute. Reconsideration impossible."

Drys Reject Fusion Plan.

The Prohibition party had given consideration to a possible merger with the Farmer-Labor organization and the joint nomination of Norris but yesterday decided to do neither. D. Leigh Colvin, national chairman of the Prohibitionists, said the nomination of Norris would not emphasize the issue the drys want emphasized—strict enforcement of Volsteadism.

Inquiry had been made as to the availability of former Congressman William D. Upshaw of Atlanta, Ga., "rather ill," and it was deemed advisable to perform the operation before Prof. Michelson leaves Chicago on a trip to California.

Last month Prof. Michelson was attacked by what was considered a slight digestive disorder and was persuaded to stay in the Albert Merritt Billings hospital in order that his diet might be regulated, it was said. During that time he carried on his work and played chess with his friends.

Ten days ago he left the hospital apparently fully recovered and made plans for his trip to Mount Wilson observatory in California. It is his expectation to continue there his experiments on the speed of light.

But with the recurrence of the ailment several days ago Prof. Michelson's physicians advised that he enter a hospital for the operation before his recovery west. The trip has been postponed until after his recuperation.

May Indorse Hoover.

It was regarded as likely that the Prohibition party convention would end with either an actual or inferred indorsement of Secretary Herbert Hoover.

The delegates had some difficulty over their platform, but at midnight all the radical objections had been heard and their proposals rejected and the convention was ready to vote on its adoption when adjournment was taken.

The platform, as presented, contained a thrust at the Anti-Saloon league, the methods of which had been the target of many speakers.

ALDERMEN VOTE FAHERTY MONEY TO PLAN SUBWAY

Hot Fight in Council Before Action.

Council on Vacation

The city council, which is facing a deficit of $3,269,306 in the corporate fund at the end of the year, took a vacation yesterday until Sept. 11 after adopting the following measures in a stormy session:

1. Appropriated $647,928 from the city transit fund to enable Michael J. Faherty to start subway plans.

2. Passed an ordinance to elevate several miles of railway tracks and eliminate six grade crossings in the vicinity of Western avenue and 75th street. Details on page 2.

3. Appropriated $50,000 to study plans for the proposed Calumet harbor. Details on page 2.

The city council yesterday voted to turn over to Michael J. Faherty, president of the board of local improvements, $647,928 out of the $65,000,000 traction fund to pay for preparation of preliminary plans for a loop subway. It is the first time the traction fund has ever been tapped. It has been borrowed from by the city but there always have been I. O. U's put in, and barring that it has been left intact.

The appropriation ordinance, viewed at the city hall as the most significant transit step taken in months, was rushed through the council by a vote of 37 to 13 on what was challenged as a "forced record." The vote was taken after a slashing debate in which Ald. Guy Guernsey (4th) charged that the public has lost confidence in the Faherty regime.

Guernsey warns Aldermen. At the climax of the battle Guernsey, referring to this Tribune's expert fee suit, declared:

"You've got the votes, I see, and you're going to jam it through. If you're ready to stand on this record, well and good, but I caution you now, if you do, you may have another two million dollar suit on your hands."

After the meeting, Ald. Guernsey predicted "Faherty will never be allowed to spend that much money." Public indignation, the alderman forecast, will result in court action being brought by taxpayers to block the expenditure.

Every Councilman Votes.

Fearing defeat in the council, the administration mustered its full strength to obtain the favorable vote and every one of the fifty aldermen was in his seat for the roll call. The 18 who voted against the appropriation and their wards try:

Guernsey (6), Murphy (28), Grove (42), Woodhill (7), Mills (37), Lombard (44), Meyer (18), Chapin (40), Mann (48), Gavril (9), T. J. Bow, Frankham-McKinlay (19), Lee (41), or (50).

Mr. Faherty last night announced that he is ready to start work the moment the mayor signs the appropriation ordinance. The first step, he said, would be to rent may demand that a committee report be deferred one week and published in the record before final action. Only a two-thirds vote, can override such a demand.

Ald. McDougall arose and asked for maintenance of the status quo. He demanded that it be deferred, and Ald. W. W. Mills was on his feet to do likewise when McDougall again obtained the floor and stated that a second vote had not been heard. A hubbub of points of order ensued and the mayor ruled McDougall was correct and, in effect, that a simple majority could pass the measure.

Council Opens Fire

Ald. Guernsey then challenged the record and proceeded with his attack on the expenditure. This brought on the verbal fireworks.

"I'm for a subway," he said, "but I'm not for loading the treasury with a half million dollars on this kind of a plan with the situation as it is. The city's legal rights are in question and there's not a transit company in the city with any legal status. The whole thing is mysterious and bad."

"Further, I don't believe the people have confidence enough in this administration to vote bonds for anything. There is too much anxiety about getting jobs. They want the boys to go to work."

"The people don't want any more of this propaganda and 'preliminary work.' What will you do with a hole in the ground and a pick and a shovel? You can't stick in a pick and have a subway. I'm against any such procedure."

Nelson Makes Retort

Ald. Oscar Nelson, the mayor's floor leader, opened a counter barrage against Ald. Guernsey. His "ugly and sarcastic charges," Nelson said, "label Guernsey as an obstructionist." He declared that Guernsey had "not an iota of evidence to support his general accusation" and that "it is simply a matter of politics."

Ald. McDougall began where Nelson stopped.

"You're not the only watch dog of the treasury around here, Ald. Guernsey," he asserted. "There are fifty honest members of the council trying to pass honest legislation. I don't play politics. If a man is right to hell's door I go with him. If he's wrong, I'm against him. I want to see a subway started, and if we don't pass this we're telling the people we don't want a subway."

Toman Gets Into Fray

Ald. John Toman said that "anybody who thinks the people oppose subways should have his head examined."

Members who took the floor against the appropriation included W. D. Meyer, Sheldon Govier, and Mills, all of whom declared that people in the outlying wards want surface and elevated extensions first, a comprehensive settlement, and subways later. Ald. McKinlay said he favored subways but not "subways at any price." He emphasized the weakness of the city's position in dealing with transit companies, as shown by the recent Supreme court decision in the North Shore line and Chicago Motor Coach company cases.

Just before the roll was called sergeant-at-arms, at the request of administration leaders scurried through the lobbies rounding up aldermen who had been called to the chamber. The vote was said to be the first for several years in which all fifty members participated.

Wants Free Transfers

Earlier in the session the council adopted without discussion two resolutions submitted by Ald. John A. Masson, one directing that the city institute proceedings before the Illinois commerce commission to compel the elevated, surface, and motor coach lines to issue free transfers at points where they cross.

The second resolution proposed that the city ask the legislature to pass legislation to enable any street railway company to acquire the property of other public utilities by the process of eminent domain. Both proposals, Ald. Masson explained, look to eventual unification of all transit lines.

The council also voted to extend the day-to-day temporary franchise of the surface lines from July 31 to Oct. 31.

Feeder Buses for Car Lines

Two other developments, both affecting the move to acquire feeder buses to the surface lines on the northwest side, occurred yesterday.

Judge Oscar Hebel upheld the ruling of the Illinois commerce commission which gave permission to the street car company to operate feeder buses on Diversey avenue from Crawford to Laramie avenue. He also upheld the commission in denying a petition of the Chicago Motor Coach company which asked that if buses were to be operated on Diversey avenue the motor coach company should be allowed to extend its service.

At the same time the city council adopted a new set of ordinances providing for feeder buses on a dozen other northwest side thoroughfares. It signed by the mayor, the ordinance will be carried before the commerce commission, which will render the final verdict as to whether the bus lines may be established.

COUNCIL ALLOWS $50,000 TO PLAN CALUMET HARBOR

Votes Fund Despite Big Deficit It Faces.

Less than an hour after receiving a report from City Controller Fitzmorris, forecasting a deficit of $3,269,308 in the corporate fund at the end of the year, the city council yesterday voted to spend $50,000 more from that fund for studies on a Calumet harbor plan.

Although the harbor plan was believed to have been killed for this year due to the failure of the finance committee to permit expenditure of any of the $1,200,000 appropriated from the new special harbor tax money, its sponsors, just before the meeting, secured enough signatures to a round robin petition to bring the corporate fund appropriation before the council. It was adopted with Ald. Guy Guernsey alone voting no.

Plans Work by Units

With the $50,000 Commissioner of Public Works Wells expects this summer to proceed with preparation of plans to dig the harbor by units, as provided in the new harbor tax law passed by the legislature last July.

Prior to passage of the appropriation, Ald. Guernsey sought unsuccessfully to secure adoption of a resolution directing the corporation counsel to go into court to test the validity of the law. It was defeated by a vote of 37 to 11. Ald. Guernsey contended that the law is unconstitutional in that it deprives the city of rights to sell lands dedicated to it by the legislature in the act of 1911 which was repealed. He declared that it is "foolish" to expend large sums of money under the new law until its validity is tested.

A second contention of Ald. Guernsey was that the law allows the city to lease industrial sites for only 50 years with a tax revaluation clause every 10 years. No industries will acquire sites without a 99 year lease, he said.

Seek Clause Amendment

In reply, Ald. Oscar Nelson and Ald. William A. Rowan, opposing the resolution, stated that the city administration proposes to have the lease clause amended in the legislature next January. Meanwhile, they argued, the preliminary plans should go forward this summer.

Mr. Fitzmorris' report showed the condition of the corporate fund to be even worse than heretofore estimated. The total income from taxes and miscellaneous revenue, he estimated, will be only $50,492,031 for the year, while expenses for the year will be $62,761,337.

PLAN INDICTMENT OF TWO AS AID IN EMBEZZLEMENT

Federal action against two alleged gamblers implicated in the embezzlement of $50,000 from the Calumet National bank is expected to take the form of grand jury indictments following a confession yesterday by George W. Anderson, former teller, who is in the custody of federal authorities.

Search for James S. Pater, former general manager of the South Shore Kennel club, was begun yesterday after Anderson had named him in the confession. The other is Richard M. Johnson, who, the police say, operates a handbook at 127 North Dearborn street and was calculator at the Lincoln Fields track. Johnson was held in bonds of $10,000 by United States Commissioner James R. Glass, on a charge of aiding Anderson in the embezzlement.

Pater, whose real name is said to be Stanley Bratinsky, still has $25,000 of the bank's money which Anderson turned over to him, according to the confession.

Dr. Justin L. Mitchell, whom Miss Underwood accused, was held without bail by Judge George A. Curran in the South Clark street court on a murder charge. Mrs. Marie Fenton, owner of the sanitarium, was released on nominal bonds upon her promise, Coroner Wolf said, to turn state's evidence.

FERGUS SUES TO WITHHOLD PAY OF LEGISLATORS

John B. Fergus, veteran exponent of reapportionment, yesterday filed another suit in superior court intended to compel the general assembly to redistrict the state in accordance with the constitution of Illinois.

It was an injunction bill directed against State Treasurer Garrett Kinney to enjoin him from paying either salaries or expenses for the 1929 legislature.

The writ is sought on contentions that Fergus has been advancing, in one form or another, for 16 years, that failure of the legislature to reapportion the state nullifies the senatorial districts of the state.

The new pleading, drawn by Attorney Ray Lane, avers that since there are no legal senatorial districts in the state, there are no legal state senators or representatives.

The city council finance committee, in sympathy with Mr. Fergus' various and numerous legal battles, yesterday directed its chairman to appropriate $5,000 from the city treasury to further litigation in the interest of reapportionment.

4 OUSTED SMOKE EXPERTS SUE TO REGAIN CITY JOBS

Four suits were filed in the Circuit court yesterday by smoke experts, who allege they were discharged by George E. Nye, head of the city boiler department, to make room for political favorites.

The plaintiffs, seeking writs of mandamus to force the city to reinstate them, are Lando A. Dettch, David V. Grant, Elmer G. Wegner, and Samuel Radner, civil service men.

The petitioners charge that the city administration has flagrantly violated the civil service rules in replacing civil service men with sixty day appointees, who have not proved their qualifications by taking the required examinations.

The petitions, drawn by Attorney Edward J. McArdle Jr., show that work of combating Chicago's smoke nuisance requires technical training and that it is a job that cannot be handled efficiently by precinct politicians.

The sixty day employees hired by Nye are receiving new appointments every two months so that in reality, it is alleged, they are permanent employees whose reappointment violates the civil service rules. The political appointees didn't take any test of their qualifications, it is pointed out.

TRACK ELEVATION TO ELIMINATE SIX GRADE CROSSINGS

An ordinance providing for the elevation of several miles of steam railway tracks and the construction of six street subways in the vicinity of 75th street and Western avenue was unanimously adopted yesterday by the city council.

Ald. John Toman [22d], chairman of the council track elevation committee, declared that it will mean, within the next few years, the elimination of some of the most dangerous grade crossings in that part of the city.

The railways involved, all of which use the same right of way, are the Pennsylvania, Wabash, B. & O. C. T. Chicago and Western Indiana, Baltimore and Ohio, and the Chicago Belt line. All have agreed to the ordinance, Ald. Toman said.

The tracks, under the ordinance, will be elevated from South Wood street to Columbus avenue on the east-west right of way, and from 69th to 75th streets on the north-south right of way. Subways will go under the tracks at 71st, 73d, 74th and 75th streets, Oakley boulevard, Columbus avenue, and Robey street. The subways at 75th and 74th streets must be completed by 1932, and work will be under way within sixty days, according to Ald. Toman. The estimated cost is $5,000,000.

OBREGON TO FEED 15,000 PEASANTS IN VICTORY FEAST

START MAILING PUBLIC LIST OF TAX VALUATIONS

First Figures on South Side Show Inequalities.

Approximately 20,000 south side property owners will soon receive by mail the first of the real estate tax valuations that the state tax commission has ordered the board of assessors to make public. It is the first publication in thirty years and from the list he receives each taxpayer can learn the assessed valuation of his neighbors' properties and compare them with his own.

The lists are being published and mailed by political precincts. Some precincts in the 14th ward, on the south side, are now being mailed. Others will be mailed as fast as the board of assessors obtains them from the printers.

Comparison Is Made.
One of the tax lists—that for the 14th ward—was mailed yesterday at the offices of the board of assessors in the county building. And a visit to the precincts by $31 street on the north, Peoria street on the south, Peoria street on the east, and Morgan street on the west, afforded some interesting comparisons. It showed also some inequalities in the valuations on adjacent properties apparently of equal value.

Meanwhile the meeting of the state tax commission with the members of the board of assessors and the board of review for the purpose of working out a plan by which the revaluation and a reassessment for Cook county may be best accomplished was postponed from today until next Monday.

Start Session Monday.
The session will open in the offices of the tax commission in the Transportation building at 11 a. m. Monday. It is expected that William H. Mason, chairman of the state tax commission, will lay down specific instructions through which the tax system is to be modernized after the system now in vogue in New York, Detroit and other cities.

The tax lists give the location of the property by street and number, its dimensions, and the board of assessors' valuation of the lot and the valuation of the house or other improvements. Thus the $300 block in Peoria street, aside from the location of the lots which are all practically 35 by 120 is as follows:

The assessed valuation is obtained by adding the first money figure (land valuation) to the second (house valuation).

All the houses listed above, with the exception of the Toppa properties, are frame cottages without any substantial variations in value. Conrad Goppelschroeder, listed as "J. P.," is assessed on a valuation of $1,175, while Mrs. Nora Hoffbauer, next door south, is assessed on a valuation of $775.
The case of Stanley W. Toppa, at the end of the block is unique. Toppa has a two story frame house, quite deep on the corner of 53rd place and Peoria street. On it he is assessed on a land valuation of $1,600 and a house valuation of $2,300, a total of $3,900. Next door to his house at 5322 Peoria street, he is assessed $1,600 on the lot, and $2,300 on a house which does not exist, for it is a vacant lot.

Property Is Not Listed.
Frank Plucynski owns 33 feet frontage at 5300 South Peoria street, 123 feet deep, running west in 53rd street. This is not listed at all in the published tax list. There are two houses on this lot and Mr. Plucynski said he paid taxes this year on an assessed valuation of $4,800.
Peter Grueling owns houses at 515 and 517 West 53rd street. The first is a brick two flat; the second a frame two flat. Each lot is 25 by 124 feet. He was assessed on a valuation of $5,225 on the brick flat building and on a valuation of $1,625 on the frame building.
There are many similar examples and as a result of alleged excessive taxes for 1927 a number of suits for injunctions to prevent County Treasurer George F. Harding from collecting have been filed.

BOY IS KILLED AS BICYCLE AND TRUCK COLLIDE

James Russo, 12 years old, 2820 West Adams street, was killed yesterday in a collision at Adams street and Francisco avenue between his bicycle and a truck driven by Frank McBride, 2610 Flournoy street.

This death and one other during the day raised Cook county's 1928 motor toll to $20.
William Williams, colored, 4922 Sheridan road, was crushed to death in front of 1339 South Wabash avenue between the running board of a truck on which he was riding and the side of a street car.

In Gary, Ind., Loretta Forness, 4 years old, was killed in front of her home by a car driven by Earl W. Lee, an automobile salesman.

Mrs. Celina Moore, 54 years old, of Chicago, was critically injured in an automobile wreck near Easton, Pa. Miss Eleanor Moore was also hurt.

They are ready to board the steamer Empress of Russia at Yokohama Thursday for Victoria, B. C., from where they will fly to New York, hoping to establish a new round the world record of 35 days. They left New York on June 29, carrying their own airplane.

BRULE AIR BLOWS AWAY COOLIDGE'S DURN ROSE FEVER

Superior, Wis., July 11.—[Special.]—President Coolidge spent a happy and peaceful day at Cedar Island lodge today, fishing most of the time on the Brule, under a comfortable warming sun.

The President never seems to get enough fishing. He seizes almost every opportunity to go out in a canoe with John La Rocque, his Indian guide, and to try to lure to his hook the trout with which the river teems. Today he was on the river in the forenoon and again just after lunch. He had good luck, as usual, but no details of his success came from the lodge.

The pure air of the Brule region has relieved the President of rose fever, his annual ailment, it is said. This ailment heretofore had invariably seized Mr. Coolidge in the springtime and bothered him until late summer. Doctors explain that Mr. Coolidge's relief is due to the comparatively small area of open pasture land hereabouts. Little pollen is produced to cause hay and rose fever.

Col. James F. Coupal, the President's personal physician, has created considerable excitement at Cedar Island lodge by treating trout for gout. Finding that some of the fish at the hatcheries were developing gout, he dropped enough iodine in the water to bring the desired chemical effect.

SLOT MACHINE COLLECTS HIS MAMMA'S TAXES

Judge Takes Steps to Get Back the Family $50.

BY KATHLEEN McLAUGHLIN.
You can't feed a fifty dollar bill, in quarters, into a slot machine and expect it to ring you up a receipt for taxes on your property. Neither can you expect the slugs you get out of the slot machine to be negotiable at the tax windows in the county building. Carl Neuman, 17 years old, knows that now.
He wasn't quite so sure about it on April 23 when his mother, Mrs. Emma Neuman, gave him $50 for taxes on their home at 2124 Pearl street, and started him to the loop. Carl somehow struck a detour that carried him right into the candy store of Nick Kocianis at 2371 Lincoln avenue, where he glimpsed a shiny, new slot machine through the window. He felt inspired to double the fifty dollar bill, via the slot machine.

Carl is Out of Luck.
Strangely enough, for all that he felt so lucky, the odds were against him—so much so that the fifty dollar bill was soon a minute quantity. It was completely surrounded by the slot machine. So Carl went home and told his mother.
"You've been robbed," she said, "go back and tell him you want that money."
Carl went back, but Nick was helpless though sympathetic.
"I can't do anything," he said, "you'll have to come back when the slot machine man comes to collect, and he'll give you back your money."
So Carl went back home again and waited until he thought the slot machine agent would be there. Then he went back. Nick was still helpless, but still sympathetic.
"He's come and gone again," he told Carl. "He waited and waited. Now you'll never see your money again."

Nick's Haled Into Court.
But when Carl came home again without the $50, Mrs. Neuman had Nick arrested and yesterday Judge Francis B. Allegretti and Nick and Carl talked it over in Chicago avenue court. Judge Allegretti was sympathetic, too—but he told Nick to pay back the $50.
"I haven't got it, judge," Nick pleaded, "the Blue Mint Seal company took it out of the slot machine, and I don't know their address."
"That's too bad," said the judge. "I'll continue your case till July 15 to give you time to get it together for Carl. After that—we'll see."

HOYT JUMPED INTO SEA TO PROVE ARGUMENT HE WOULD BE RESCUED

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—Morton Hoyt, 23 year old society man of this city, realized it was a "fool stunt" to jump into the sea from the French liner Rochambeau last Friday and hopes people will forget it.
Hoyt told newspapermen here today that he dived overboard from the ship not as the result of a dare from Miss Elsie Ekengren, 17 year old daughter of the late Swedish minister to the United States, but to prove to a curious group that chances of rescue were better than even.
He said he believed Miss Ekengren told ship reporters that he jumped, after a challenge she made in jest, to justify the act. He insisted there was nothing to be construed as a dare.
Hoyt, son of the late solicitor General Hoyt, explained that the group was arguing what would happen if a man fell overboard. "Some said the ship would not stop, some contended the man would drown before aid reached him, and still others held he would never be located."
Hoyt insisted there would be no danger if it were a clear night, and then some one asked if he would be willing to try it "if it were clear."
"It's clear enough," Hoyt said, and walked to the rail and dived in.

FRANCE ACCEPTS FINAL DRAFT OF KELLOGG TREATY

Satisfied It Safeguards
Other Commitments.

BY HENRY WALES.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
PARIS, July 11.—France will sign Secretary of State Kellogg's anti-war pact as it stands. Foreign Minister Aristide Briand was given full powers by the ministerial council today to signify Secretary Kellogg's before Sunday France's unconditional acceptance of the treaty draft in its present form.

M. Briand explained to the cabinet why he considers the Kellogg draft satisfactory and outlined his proposed reply. This will contain enthusiastic acceptance, with the explanation that France considers the revised suggestion for the treaty form which last emanated from Washington a considerable interpretation of her reservations in respect to her connection with the Locarno pact and league of nations treaty.

Others to Accept.
It is understood here that France's acceptance will be followed almost immediately by that of the other powers, which, although they mysteriously got together to determine a definite attitude toward the proposal, stood aside to let France profess acceptance first in recognition of the fact that this pact was intended to be a private Franco-American document until Secretary Kellogg turned it into a world proposal.

After holding out so long for a clearer definition of French reservations within the treaty draft, M. Briand's mollification is the result of a secretly arranged parley in Geneva with Sir Cecil Hurst, M. Fromageot, and Herr Gausa, who were respectively the legal oracles of England, France and Germany.

The trio decided that the Washington document was entirely satisfactory to their respective governments from a juridical point of view.

Germany's Acceptance Sent.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
LONDON, July 11.—Germany's reply accepting Secretary of State Kellogg's proposals for a multilateral treaty outlawing war has been dispatched to Washington and will be presented in a day or two.

$100,000 BLAZE DESTROYS PLANT OF GLASS CO.

Fire caused by the combustion of paints, oils, and chemicals in the three story building of the Kinross Art Glass company, 808 West 23d street, almost entirely destroyed the building and caused damage of $100,000 last evening. Joseph Kemp, of truck company No. 2, was badly cut on the right leg when he stumbled under the load of a line of hose and fell on a piece of glass. He was taken to St. Luke's hospital.

Prompted by the hazards to the manufacturing district in which the building is located, Fire Marshal Michael Corrigan sounded a 4-1-1 alarm. Streams of water were played on the adjoining buildings to prevent the fire from spreading. The fire started on the first floor and rapidly spread to the upper floors, destroying the interior of the building and the goods stored there.

DEDICATE CAMP BUILDINGS TODAY.
The dedication of two new buildings—a nursery and an isolation hospital—at the Salvation Army's fresh air camp, Camp Lake, Wis., 60 miles northwest of Chicago, will take place today. Building officers of the organization and representatives of Chicago philanthropic and civic groups are expected to be present.

SMITH INCREASES LEAD IN POLL OF SOUTHWEST SIDE

Stockyards Straws Show
Hoover Further Behind.

Chicago Straw Vote

Candidate	Prev. Poll	Today's Poll	Percent
Hoover	7,200	1,187	54.57
Smith	7,000	2,607	55.38
Thomas	200	54	2.5
Totals	14,400	3,848	100.00

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Gov. Al Smith, the Democratic candidate for the presidency, took a lead of 116 straws yesterday in a poll of 1,243 persons on the south side of Chicago. The wards canvassed—10th to 19th, inclusive—are usually Democratic by a large majority in local elections; although they gave a margin to President Coolidge over John W. Davis four years ago.

This poll, being conducted by The Tribune throughout the city, is made to determine the attitude of voters here before active campaigning has started by either party.

Smith did better in these wards yesterday than in the accredited Democratic stronghold of the west side, the figures of which—so far as polled—were printed Monday.

Stockyards Voters Wet.

The poll yesterday includes the stockyards area, and the comments of the straw voters indicated clearly that the dominating issue with them is prohibition. In fact, the wet and dry question appears from the comments, reported by the vote collectors, to be practically the only issue being considered at present. It was the subject of comment yesterday by probably seven-eighths of the persons voting in the south side Democratic wards, who had any remarks to make.

The canvass developed another feature which has not yet appeared prominently. Three vote takers each encountered groups of men who were evidently out of employment. The comments of these voters indicated a hope that Smith would provide more employment for them.

The summarized result of yesterday's poll, in both straws and percentages for each candidate, is as follows:

Candidate and Party.	Straws.	Per.
Hoover, Rep.	1,187	54.57
Alfred M. Smith, Dem.	2,607	55.38
Norman M. Thomas, Soc.	54	2.5
Totals	3,848	100.00

These straws put Smith in the lead 1,166 straws in The Tribune poll to date, which consists of the collection of the views from 18,461 persons in Chicago. Of the total straw voters to date, 5,643 were found on the north side, 4,997 on the west side and 7,721 on the south side. It is apparent in that segregation of straws that the poll is out of proportion to the number of voters on each side of the city; but an analysis of the specific spots canvassed indicates that the percentages, printed at the top of this story, give a reasonably reliable glimpse of public sentiment at present.

The totals above on street corners supply some interesting percentages. Smith gained his highest points in the poll to date with 70.39 per cent; Hoover got only 27.71 per cent, and Thomas 2.68 per cent.

Taking both the theaters and street corners canvassed yesterday, Smith received five straws for every three cast for Hoover. Some of the figures presented appear to be at variance with previous Tribune polls at certain locations. In an effort to verify the figures, or catch the errors, certain spots on the south side will be canvassed today, together with other locations which have not yet been polled.

It is planned to give a complete picture of the south side in The Tribune tomorrow.

The totals above on street corners supply some interesting percentages. Smith gained his highest points in the poll to date with 70.39 per cent; Hoover got only 27.71 per cent, and Thomas 2.68 per cent.

Taking both the theaters and street corners canvassed yesterday, Smith received five straws for every three cast for Hoover. Some of the figures presented appear to be at variance with previous Tribune polls at certain locations. In an effort to verify the figures, or catch the errors, certain spots on the south side will be canvassed today, together with other locations which have not yet been polled.

It is planned to give a complete picture of the south side in The Tribune tomorrow.

MR. MAHLGREN FOUND DEAD BY RESCUE PARTY

Two Other Noble's Aids Picked Up by Ship.

BULLETIN.
MOSCOW, July 12.—(AP)—The party of three men who started to sail from the scene of the Italian ice breaker Krasin, Dr. Malmgren, Swedish scientist, was found to be dead when the Russian reached the group.

ON BOARD RUSSIAN ICE BREAKER KRASSIN IN ARCTIC, July 11.

The Krasin tonight was putting full steam and its crew was prepared for superhuman efforts to reach the Italian ice breaker. The party of the rescue party of the Noble expedition, and his comrades, who were discovered by the Russian aviator Chukhnovsky on the ice about twenty miles from the vessel's position.

Two Wave; One May Be Dead.

The Russian aviator, engaged in a reconnaissance to the northward of the Krasin in the slight hope that he might learn something of their whereabouts, suddenly saw three men on the ice. He circled about them and two of them, moving, revealed themselves to be men. They frantically waved flags and the aviator again circled in an effort to land a landing place. He was unsuccessful and was forced to return to the Krasin without any attempt at rescue.

Fog Barks Second Flight.

Chukhnovsky again flew over the ice this afternoon in the hope that he might be able to land or at least drop them provisions but conditions were not propitious and he returned to the Krasin.

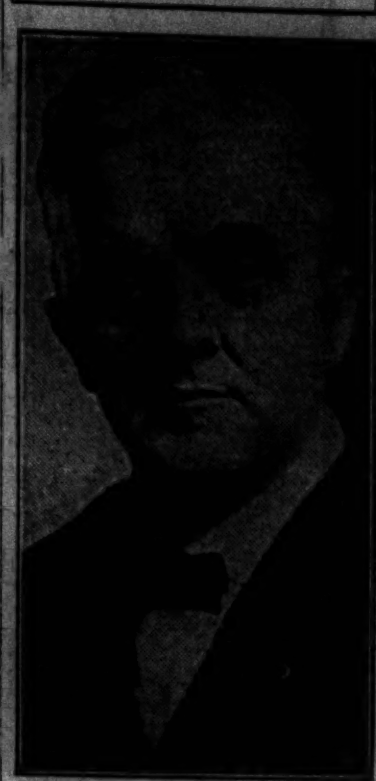

He gave their position as 80.42 north latitude and 25.45 east longitude. It is not known whether ice conditions will permit the Krasin to approach them more closely but no effort will be spared in the attempt.

The discovery of the castaways has been a thrill through the hearts of those aboard the Krasin, which for two months has been steadily smashing through the ice floes in a determined effort to reach the Noble group of five men off Foin Island. At the same time searching for Capt. Roald Amundsen and the eight other rescuers who have disappeared in the arctic wastes.

bergen after locating three men thought to be survivors of the Italia, says the official communiqué covering the Noble rescue operations.

The Russian ice breaker Krasin informed the City of Milano that the Soviet aviator, after locating the men, ran into a fog bank. He was unable to find the Krasin and turned toward the coast of North Eastland, landing near Cape Fliten and damaging his plane. The five persons aboard the plane reached the coast. They have a long range radio station and food for 15 days.

MCBRIDE OPENS DRY LEAGUE WAR UPON GOV. SMITH

Calls His Election 'Worse than Repeal.'

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(Special.)—P. Scott McBride, spokesman for the National Anti-Saloon league, today officially opened the dry campaign against the election of Gov. Smith of New York.

In a signed statement the general superintendent of the league, subjected the wet New York governor to a scorching attack, concluding with the assertion that Smith's elevation to the presidency would handicap enforcement of the dry laws and greatly injure prohibition.

"Any argument by Smith partisans that their candidate could not injure prohibition is as false as the usual Tammany camouflage, and any statement that any dry leaders have been deceived by this Smith propaganda is absolutely false," Mr. McBride asserted.

May Induce Other Statements.

Importance was attached by Washington politicians to the outspoken nature of the attack against the New York governor, as it assumed it will be followed by similar action by other leading dry organizations. Prior to his statement, Mr. McBride discussed the situation with directors of the league and with leading officials of reform groups. The general superintendent conferred with Chairman Work of the Republican national committee last week, but no account of this interview was made public.

Following closely upon the heels of the "call to arms" a week ago by Ernest Cherrington, educational director of the league, and general secretary of the World League Against Alcoholism, the McBride pronouncement supplies new proof of the fear the dry zealots have for prohibition's fate if Smith is victorious.

"Not a Partisan Move."

In singling out Gov. Smith for defeat, dry officials explained that this was not a partisan move but a step in line with their policy of attacking the wet regardless of party. Stress will be laid on electing a dry congress, it was asserted, regardless of party affiliation.

Washington dries generally forecast Smith's defeat and McBride in his statement of today predicted that the New Yorker would not be elected.

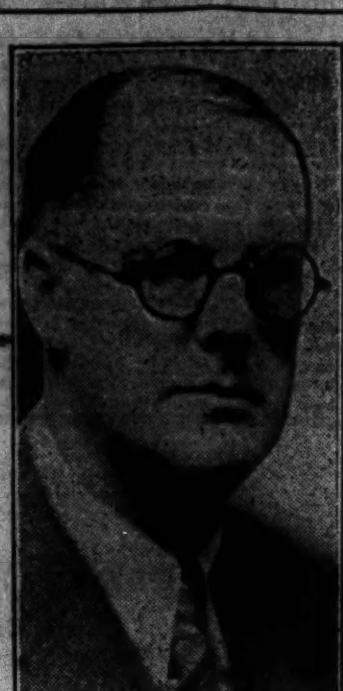

"Any man or group of men that rely upon appeals to the baser passions or to the appetites or to the exploitation of the weaknesses of our fellow men cannot hope to win a victory against opponents whose appeal is based upon loyalty to constitutional government and continuance of our unrivaled prosperity," Mr. McBride said.

"Prohibition rests upon the will of the overwhelming majority of the voters who know full well that promises of repeal or modification of the law made by any candidate cannot be kept."

Prohibition as a political issue is as settled as slavery, dueling, the lottery, or any other outgrown issue," he continued, asserting that congress is 70 per cent dry. "The American people have settled it as a political issue by writing it into the constitution and the man who seeks to revive the liquor issue today is an unwise politician as he would be if he sought to resuscitate slavery."

"Congress may be taken as typical of the nation, since the members of the two houses represent the prevailing sentiment of their respective constituencies. In the present house 71 per cent of the Democrats and 73 per cent of the Republicans have either dry voting records or have made dry statements concerning prohibition, while in the senate 70 per cent of the Democrats and 76 per cent of the Republicans have dry records or have made dry pronouncements. This represents the proportion of prohibition sentiment in both parties."

NATION'S ELKS VOTE 20 MILLION FOR CHARITIES

Miami, Fla., July 11.—(AP)—America's Elks, in session here, today voted to establish a twenty million dollar trust fund for use in charitable, educational and benevolent enterprises. It will be known as the Elks' national foundation.

The delegates also heard reports from a national memorial headquarters committee and a committee representing the Elks' magazine. During the six years the magazine has been in existence, the report stated, the average annual net surplus has amounted to $139,859. For an aggregate of $1,613,756 of the total surplus $350,000 was spent to defray the cost of a new dormitory and heating plant at the Elks' national home at Bedford, Va.

As settled as slavery, dueling, the lottery, or any other outgrown issue," he continued, asserting that congress is 70 per cent dry. "The American people have settled it as a political issue by writing it into the constitution and the man who seeks to revive the liquor issue today is an unwise politician as he would be if he sought to resuscitate slavery."

"Congress may be taken as typical of the nation, since the members of the two houses represent the prevailing sentiment of their respective constituencies. ## Hoover Hopes to Patch Up Chicago Row; Sees Glenn; to Be Dawes' Guest Sunday

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(Special.)—When Herbert Hoover closes his desk in the department of commerce next Saturday noon he will be free to devote all of his time to the job of winning the presidency from Al Smith.

While the genial governor of New York is wisecracking and entertaining newspaper men in Albany, the quiet, low voiced Republican candidate is denying himself personal publicity and is devoting most of his time to winding up the affairs of his department.

He was deep today in budget figures, but took a half hour to talk with Oldie Glenn, Republican candidate for the United States senate from Illinois, who came here at Mr. Hoover's invitation.

Mr. Hoover did not sit and listen, as Calvin Coolidge does, but talked freely and showed a keen appreciation of the political complexities of the Republican party in Illinois, particularly in Chicago.

Chicago His First Stop.

Chicago is to be his first stop on the westward journey, which really begins his campaign, although he will not discuss issues openly until after his notification speech in California on Aug. 11.

All indications from superior are that the President will accept his resignation and the mind that is so well equipped to handle great problems will be turned exclusively to politics.

Some new political strategy may be expected to result. Mr. Hoover will keep his own hand on the reins and will make all the important decisions.

His first task may be to straighten out the tangled Chicago situation and form an organization there which will carry him through, despite the factional Republican battle that is inevitable in the fall.

Dawes' Guests on Sunday.

Arriving in Chicago on the Pennsylvania railroad at 2:35 o'clock Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Hoover will be driven to the home of Vice President Dawes in Evanston and will spend the time there until their train leaves in the evening for the Bruin country. This invitation from the Vice President has pleased Mr. Hoover. He will talk with him and with President Coolidge on the agricultural and prohibition features of his notification address. The Vice President and Senator Borah are to be two of the burden bearers in the speaking campaign.

While Mr. Hoover cannot be expected to go beyond the party platform or the Coolidge policy in all sections, his attitude on this question is such as to meet the ready support of the Vice President and may even draw a statement of approval from Frank O. Lowden. At least this is the hope of the Hoover managers.

Mr. Hoover is convinced that there is a real fight on in Chicago, due largely to the prohibition question. He has been pleased at the results of the Taft campaign, however, and is not worried over the outcome in the state as a whole. Mr. Glenn, who has recently been through the state in his own campaign, was able to give the secretary first hand reports on the downstate situation. Illinois is considered safe for the Republican ticket.

Mr. Hoover will spend Monday and part of Tuesday with the President, staying all night at the Cedar Island lodge and perhaps relieving his mind of political burdens for an hour or two by casting in the Bruin. He will leave Superior Tuesday afternoon for Omaha, where he will spend three hours, going from there directly to San Francisco.

To Meet Two Governors.

On the way north Sunday evening there will be some kind of greeting for him at Janesville. The governor of Wisconsin and the governor of Minnesota expect to board the train and ride a little with the candidate. They will urge the streamlining of farm relief and the deep waterway.

The candidate's home state is planning a great reception for him Friday noon at San Francisco. The governor of state, Charles C. Young, the mayor of San Francisco, Sunny Jim Rolph, and perhaps even Senator Hiram Johnson will be on hand. The senator, it is said, has been showing distinct signs of friendliness. On the way across the country numerous delegations are to be received, but there will be no word from Hoover until after he has spoken on Aug. 11, except a greeting. All the problems of the day have been dumped into his brain to emerge on that day in a way to test his leadership to the utmost.

Told of Illinois Outlook.

Mr. Glenn after his talk with the candidate had this to say on the Illinois situation:

"I have been in various sections of the state during the last two weeks, have talked with leaders in all sections of friendliness. On the way across the country numerous delegations are to be received, but there will be no word from Hoover until after he has spoken on Aug. 11, except a greeting. All the problems of the day have been dumped into his brain to emerge on that day in a way to test his leadership to the utmost."

While Mr. Hoover cannot be expected to go beyond the party platform or the Coolidge policy in all sections, his attitude on this question is such as to meet the ready support of

COLLINS REVEALS $67,000 LOSS IN CITIZENSHIP FUND

Bankruptcy Hearing Nears Final Sessions.

Incidents in the career of the American Citizenship Foundation, related by Thomas D. Collins, Chicago builder who is fighting bankruptcy proceedings brought against him before Federal Judge George A. Carpenter, enlivened the story he told yesterday of the financing of three apartment and hotel buildings in which he has holdings. One of the assets listed by him was a claim of $67,000 against the foundation, which he admitted is worthless.

Collins, whose wealth grew to millions from a shoeing start, is trying to have set aside the bankruptcy petition brought against him by a number of his creditors. He charged that John J. Murphy, his former business associate in the firm of Collins, Murphy, & Jackson, is trying to "freeze" him out of his shares in the Seneca hotel and the Harry and Cora apartment building, which they built. The value of the buildings is estimated at $12,000,000, and claims against them amount to nearly $7,000,000.

Tells of Giving $67,000.
Under questioning by Judge Carpenter, who manifested an interest in the citizenship foundation, Collins stated that as manager of its financial committee, he had been instrumental in hiring George B. Ellison to manage the foundation's campaign to raise $2,000,000. The money was to be used to teach citizenship to citizens and aliens and to construct a building to house the foundation's activities. The result of the campaign, according to Collins, was the expenditure of $67,000, given by himself.

Asked for the names of some of the people behind the foundation, Collins replied, "There was Harry A. Wheeler, the banker, John J. Mitchell Jr., Benjamin F. Affleck, George W. Dixon, Herman Waldeck, former Congressman George Edmund Posa, and others whom I can't recall now."

Has Copyright to Book.
"Do you mean to say that those millionaires let you pay their bills?" Judge Carpenter asked, and was told that directors' meetings had been called but nothing was done about it. Collins then testified that the assets of the foundation consist of the copyright to a book, not on the market, which gives a course in citizenship.

Plans for the campaign to raise funds last year were considered impractical by the board of directors and were suspended. An announcement was made at the time that the foundation's work would continue.

Both sides concluded the taking of testimony yesterday and final arguments to the jury will be made today.

CHINESE AGREE TO UNIFIED RULE OF ALL REVENUES

Adopt Plan to Build Up Finances.

SHANGHAI, China, July 11.—(U.P.)—Sweeping proposals aimed at achieving genuine governmental and financial unification of China have been adopted by the Nationalist government financial conference, which closed today at Nanking.

There had been an eight day session, which was attended by 150 provincial officers, representatives of the finance ministry, numerous industrialists and provincial military men, all under the chairmanship of the Nanking finance minister, T. V. Soong.

The conference adopted detailed regulations, seeking improvement of the country's financial administration, elimination of graft, increased authority for the finance ministry, and other regulations looking to the development of China's resources and trade.

Provinces Agree to Remit Revenues.
One outstanding decision was recognition by the provincial delegates of the authority of the ministry of finance, which will be permitted to direct provincial fiscal affairs, the delegates promising to remit revenues unfailingly to Nanking. Evidence of this sincerity was seen in the rejection by the conference of the proposal of the Province of Kwangtung to withhold revenues for one year in order to rehabilitate its finances from the last two years' military demands.

The delegates decided such a proposal threatened the lifeblood of the national government and therefore could not be permitted. All the provinces were ordered to effect improvement in their plans and finance programs, including taxes, subject to the authority of Nanking.

The conference decided on a new schedule of taxes, which includes new levies on imported commodities and exempts native products in order to develop home industries.

Adopts Tariff Schedule.
The conference adopted a national tariff schedule, in preparation for tariff autonomy on Jan. 1, 1929. It followed up the policies announced by the economic conference recently held at Shanghai, determining upon numerous plans to improve the nation's credit, pay the foreign debts, and regulate military expenditures.

Banking regulations, establishing a national bank and unifying coinage and also establishing farm loan banks were adopted, as well as recommendations to the government for improved communications, disbandment of troops, development of commerce, and many similar proposals. It is expected that the recommendations will be carried out by the government at the earliest date possible.

Spain Arrests 500 for Plot to Overthrow Government
BORDEAUX, France, July 11.—(U.P.)—More than 500 communists and extremists, charged with a plot to overthrow the Spanish government, have been arrested in a series of raids, according to reliable Spanish sources. The raids centered in the provinces of Catalonia and Galicia.

RESERVE BOARD SEEKS TO AVERT CRASH IN STOCKS

5% Money May End Wall Street Splurge.

ting over the reduction in American money rates desired by the British and their allies.

Chicago Bank Refuses.

The Chicago reserve bank refused at that time to reduce its rate, but was compelled to do so by the federal reserve board. That high handed action on the part of the board wrought a crisis in the reserve system, the serious consequences of which only were averted by the resignation of D. R. Crissinger, governor of the board, and his replacement by Roy A. Young of the Minneapolis reserve bank, who shared the view of the Chicago institution.

The Chicago bank objected to reduction of the rate on the ground that it would lead to inflation and speculation by making money cheaper. That is exactly what happened. By last winter the cry of Wall street speculation was on, the reserve banks then began trying to check it by open market sales of securities and by raising the rediscount rate back to 4 per cent and later to 4 1/2 per cent.

Reaps the Whirlwind.

To help stabilize the British money market, the reserve system had sowed the wind, and ever since has been reaping the whirlwind.

The theory had been that the rediscount rate could be reduced for the purpose of influencing a flow of funds to London, and that inflation and speculation at home could be prevented by open market sales of securities for the purpose of contracting credit. But it didn't work.

In Uncomfortable Position.
"An added and more immediate impulse to this shifting of emphasis in federal reserve procedure likely is to result from the serious impairment of prestige which the open market policy of the federal reserve recently has sustained, because of untoward developments in connection with its adventure in the autumn of last year in undertaking to ease and stabilize the international situation," said Dr. Miller.

"The American stock market on that occasion took advantage of the federal reserve's policy of cheap and easy money. The volume of credit involved in speculative loans grew rapidly and in the early part of the year 1928 attained such magnitude as to awaken widespread concern in the United States and to place the federal reserve in a position of uncomfortable responsibility.

"The lesson of this experience will not soon be forgotten and likely is to register itself in the flexible mind of the federal reserve as a change of front.

"For the circumstances which have occasioned the partial mischievousness of federal reserve policy in the course of the last ten months are of the kind that are likely to repeat themselves.

"The credit system is envisaged by the federal reserve as a vital influence in the economic process.

"The full capabilities of a wise dispensation of credit, however, have not yet been fully realized in the United States, even though conditions here have been so unprecedently favorable to their exploitation."

CANADA BUILDS SPEEDY ROAD AS NEW YORK NAPS

U. S. Tourists Attracted Not Alone by Bottle.

BY PUTNEY HAIGHT.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
MONTREAL, Que., July 11.—The Canadian provincial authorities have been actively engaged in highway improvement during the period that New York state has been registering drawbacks in regard to that subject along the St. Lawrence river. Today there exists through Ontario and Quebec, between Kingston and Montreal, one of the fastest 200 mile motor ways in America. It is getting slower, because it is not uniformly wide, and the traffic is multiplying by leaps and bounds. But, while narrow in places, it is in excellent surface condition. The result is that the automobile ferries from Cape Vincent, Alexandria Bay, Morrisburg, Ogdensburg, Watertown, and Oswego are doing a roaring business transporting cars from the American side.

On the New York side, however, the highway is narrower, more infested with sharp curves and turns. The ferries are rough and uneven. In many localities the road is far out of sight of the river.

Road Enlivens Territory.

It is interesting to note, however, that the first motor roads of the New York system in the St. Lawrence valley country did for the localities through which they passed. In the late nineties, before the advent of the state highways, rocky roads of the northwestern counties were poor indeed. Side hill farms were abandoned, country dwellings were unpainted, mansions and manors of revolutionary days or thereafter had fallen into disuse. The end of the first decade of this century, after the central roads were finished, saw much paint on houses, well-trimmed and neatly hedged lawns, and innumerable signs proclaiming rooms for tourists. For another ten years it thrived tremendously. Since then, something seems to have happened.

Less Auto Traffic.

The Canadian route has it all over the New York highways in this region. It is a simple thoroughfare that one gets on and drives right through. There are few crossroads and few reversals of direction, while across the river the road is a rambling, branching path. One reason for conditions in Canada may be that the automobile is not so plentiful there as in the states. The horse and buggy is frequently encountered on the roads, and in Montreal, the French equivalent of the horse drawn "hack" or ante-diluvian American days is still seen—and laughed at.

Another reason was illustrated in the village of Aukenville on the Kingston-Montreal highway. At either side of this village the surface of the roadway has begun to disintegrate. Incredible as it may seem to Americans, the provincial highway maintenance force was actually repairing the sections.

Beautiful Approach to City.
Driving into the city of Montreal is a distinct thrill to any American motorist. Through a winding, smooth pavement, bordered by quaint and interesting old French habitations, chateaux and estates, the way leads through St. Anne De Belleue, Pointe Claire, Lachine and West Montreal; the equivalent of Chicago's north shore and Sheridan road. Before Montreal is reached, there has been forty miles of wide asphalt, with a 14 mile tangent along the canal bank, narrow but straight as a die. Without congestion, the way opens into Sherbrooke avenue, wide and smooth, flows into the center of the city. The municipality of Montreal has managed to make its pavements agreeable to both motor cars and tram cars. The electric cars do not seem so much of an obstacle as in Chicago.

Montreal is a city of a million souls, and by all national conclusions based on age and antiquity its pavements should be at least doubly as impassable as those of Chicago. But they are not. If the provinces are now awakening from a long sleep and plunging into public works, it must be admitted that they are taking highways seriously and motor transportation devoutly. The American public, in the time of several million, seems to realize and appreciate the fact during the touring season, although there may be the added attraction of lawful wine, beer, porter, and ale.

HUSBAND, WIFE GUILTY OF ARSON IN STORE BLAZE

CRIMINAL COURT.
John Jordan, larceny, sentenced to 1 to 10 years in the penitentiary by Judge Frank Comerford.

For the first time in recent years at least, a woman and her husband were convicted yesterday for the crime of arson. A jury in Judge Emanuel Miller's Criminal court after four hours of deliberation returned guilty verdicts carrying penalties of 1 to 20 years each in the penitentiary for Sam Janows, 35 years old, and his wife, Dorothy, 32 years old, the mother of two children. A motion for a new trial will be argued on July 20.

Janows was the owner of two delicatessen stores, one at 401 West Harrison street, Oak Park, and the other at 831 North Cicero avenue. The Oak Park store, carrying insurance of $4,000 and a stock said to be worth at the maximum $2,000, was partly destroyed by fire Jan. 16, 1927.

Assistant State's Attorney John T. Dempsey Jr. and Abe Johnson, proved that Mrs. Janows, who was in charge of the Oak Park store, was the last one seen around the premises prior to the fire.

Firemen charged that they found accelerators scattered around the store and that there was a strong odor of alcohol when they arrived at 2:30 o'clock in the morning.

Mrs. Janows, who appeared on the verge of tears when the jury verdict was read, denied having anything to do with the fire and produced an alibi to show that she and her husband were attending a party at the time.

CHILE AND PERU NEAR END OF LONG DIPLOMATIC ROW

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—Restoration of diplomatic relations between Chile and Peru, severed years ago as a result of the Tacna-Arica dispute, appeared to be immediately impending today despite state department refusal to comment on published reports to that effect.

The approachment negotiations began between Peruvian and Chilean delegates to the Pan-American conference at Havana. They have been fostered by Secretary Kellogg through the respective diplomatic representatives of the two countries here and also through American diplomats at the interested capitals. A settlement of the Tacna-Arica dispute is expected to follow resumption of diplomatic relations.

ONTARIO SEIZES $5,000,000 RUM FOR THIRSTY U. S.

Detroit, Mich., July 11.—[Special.]—Stocks of beer and liquor valued at between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000 and stored in two of the largest export warehouses on the Canadian border were seized by Ontario police at Windsor, Ont., today as "a menace to social conditions" in the province.

The warehouses are those of the Carling Brewing and Export company of London and Windsor, Ont., and of the Nathanson company, a Montreal organization with warehouses all over Canada.

Supply U. S. Rum Runners. Although the police would not comment on the seizure, it is understood a general seizure of all stocks along the border, with a value of approximately $5,000,000 would follow.

These docks supply the fleets of rum runners with the liquor they smuggle into the United States over the Detroit river. Much of the liquor goes to the Detroit rum trade, but a large quantity is shipped from Detroit to cities throughout the country.

According to Canadian officials, much of the liquor brought to the warehouses, instead of being "exported" to the United States, has found its way back into Ontario, where it competed illegally with the government liquor stores.

Beer Boat Seized at Docks. Most of the stock seized was whisky, but a large quantity of beer also was taken. The exporters have 30 days in which to file a claim for the liquor or suffer confiscation of their stocks.

A beer boat containing several hundred cases of beer was seized at its dock. All dock men were ordered off the premises and only officials of the company allowed to remain.

DRY'S WILD GIN PARTIES LOCK 125 ROOM HOTEL

Agents Admit 5 Month Orgy on U. S. Money.

Milwaukee, Wis., July 11.—[Special.]—The entire St. Charles hotel of 125 rooms, situated in the downtown district, was ordered padlocked today by Federal Judge Ferdinand A. Geiger, at the conclusion of the hearing of testimony regarding liquor violations in the place.

"The testimony shows beyond a doubt that the hotel constituted a nuisance as defined by the Volstead act," Judge Geiger declared. Earlier in the day Frank Burgess and Henry Strawn, under cover agents for the prohibition department, testified as to their activities during the three months when they lived at the hotel for the express purpose of gathering evidence.

Wild Parties on U. S. Money. Both told how they had occupied several different rooms in the hotel, and how they had purchased from bell boys while residing there, of wild parties with chorus girls, and of hearing boisterous talking and laughing, indicating other drunken orgies in various parts of the hotel.

During their three month's sojourn at the hotel they purchased scores of bottles of liquor for the consumption of the chorus girls tenants and participated in numerous wild parties, they admitted. The greater part of the liquor, purchased with the government's money, was drunk by chorus girls, according to testimony of the under cover agents.

Serve Gin to Chorus Girls. Joseph H. Budar, proprietor of the hotel often had to be called in to quell the boisterousness resulting from drinking revels, Strawn declared. That much of the boisterousness was induced by government bought gin was admitted by Burgess, who told of serving gin rickies to several of the girls, who immediately began turning somersaults.

Miss Mary Clarkson, former president of the Milwaukee County Federation of Church Women, together with other church workers, were in the spectator's row listening to the agents' description of their drunken revels. Miss Clarkson last year led the fight to prevent Budar from regaining his citizenship papers.

THE ENFORCEMENT MOTTO
"SHOOT 'EM DOWN."

Citizens of the Buffalo region who have not yet quieted their indignation over the shooting, bludgeoning and maiming of a fellow citizen of prominence by prohibition agents who took a chance have now cause for alarm and anger. The crew of a coast guard gun chaser took another chance and fired shells at a boat in which well known and respectable men and women of Buffalo were cruising. Fortunately the fire was either good or bad, good if the crew did not intend to sink the pleasure boat and bad if they did.

The people shot at find no consolation in guessing which of the two it may have been and they, supported by their community, are demanding that government methods which treat innocent people in this fashion stop. They are not getting such satisfaction from the lieutenant in command of that particular coast guard unit. He says that the men on the government boat were perfectly justified. He says the pleasure boat was the precise type used in running rums.

The enforcement motto is that anything which might possibly have liquor can be treated as such a suspicion. That ranges from a citizen who might have a bottle in his hip pocket to an automobile which might have a case or a boat which might have a cargo.

CENTRALIZATION IN WOMEN'S CLUB
AFFAIRS.

Rebellion against constituted authority is appearing in the world of organized womanhood. And constituted authority is adopting appropriate measures to meet the peril. A daughter of the revolution has been expelled from the D. A. R. for less majesty in criticizing the general officers of the so-called blacklist, which will tempt the cynic's smile. Surely a daughter of the revolution ought to be allowed a little revolution, if only to keep up a noble tradition. On the other hand, she can hardly object if she suffers the penalties of the rebel risked by her forefathers if not paid.

But perhaps the issue is not that over which so much emotion seems to have been expended. The issue may be one of usurped authority. That is an issue that appears to be up in a clear form in the General Federation of Women's Clubs. For example, a militant club of Henderson, Ky., sponsored congress in March to inquire whether the federation, by the federation's officials, was not overstepping the bounds of its charter to enter the political sphere on behalf of a legislative program. The Henderson club pointed out that the charter designated the federation as a federation to be "educational, industrial, philanthropic, literary, artistic, and scientific culture."

But the central officers had entered a body known as the Women's Joint Congressional Committee, had introduced two constitutional amendments and a program of legislation, of which several measures were not approved by the Henderson club and other member clubs of the federation.

We are not informed as to whether this question was definitely thrashed out at the recent meeting of the General Federation at San Antonio. The retiring president had previously advised the withdrawal of the federation from the Joint Congressional Committee, and we understand that the new president represents the membership which prefers to emphasize the cultural rather than the political sympathies of the federation. But the question of greater interest to us is that of centralization in this organization and others of national extent. The Henderson club's protest raises this question with spirit and ability. It complains that central officials, without authority to bind all constituent clubs of the federation, have adopted a political program and attempted to impose it upon all the member clubs on pain of expulsion from the federation.

We think this is an issue deserving of very serious consideration. The General Federation of Women's Clubs is one of the most important and respectable of American voluntary organizations. Its officials in their experiment in political action have claimed to represent 2,000,000 club women. That was intended to make the politicians and legislators at Washington take the demands of the federation seriously. They undoubtedly did. But it is of some concern, not only to any conscientiously dissenting member club, but to the country at large, that dissent be allowed expression and be deducted from the assertion of authority made by the central officials. Washington is full of lobbying agencies, claiming to represent more citizens than they could possibly muster, and politics which is easily impressed by chance, is hardly moved by the threats and demands of importunate minorities. We are getting as a result a good deal of legislation which is not the expression of a common, considered opinion, and which not only is adding untidily to the cost of government, but is clogging the statutes with moribund laws.

The General Federation and other national organizations of constituent clubs or associations should be careful that they do not permit a single group of individuals, through the exercise of superior political tactics, to obtain control of the voice and management of the general body and deprive constituent clubs of their independence and right of self-expression. These large national organizations may easily fall into the hands of a cabal which is not really representative even of the majority of the membership. But though they may represent a majority, the right of open dissent and of independent local self-expression should be jealously safeguarded. This is especially important where political action is attempted.

There are, of course, advantages in general coordination of effort. But where a continent and a nation of one hundred and twenty millions is involved, the problem of centralized control is a difficult one and the gains of federation may very well be offset by losses to local initiative and independence of judgment. This is, indeed, a phase of the whole problem of political and social order in the United States, and we believe it discloses the same dangers of too much standardization, centralization, and loss of local liberty that are discerned and resisted with increasing determination in the field of politics and government.

THE REPLY IS:
"TRY TO GET IT."

A Geneva conference under the auspices of the league of nations has adopted an agreement to abolish trade restrictions. There are some exceptions, but it is noted that they are fewer than had been expected. The president of the conference said that a great step had been taken toward international freedom of trade. It was reported that an American delegation was present. The representatives of the United States, if at all sympathetic with Geneva proceedings, as presumably they are, must have realized another of our unfortunate national moments. With everything to give up they had no way of giving anything. They were present and not voting, although present in the name of the only country which in the eyes of the world has made to surrender to free trade.

The greatest trade restriction in the world is the American tariff and it no longer represents much of an issue in the United States. The Democrats have a traditional opposition to it, which has so little present day reality that the party wishes it to be understood for political effect that it now is just about as high tariff as the Republican.

It never has been clear why the United States undertakes a quasi representation at league of nations negotiations. The competence of that organization to interfere in the affairs of the United States was disposed of when the senate defeated the covenant, and everything which has happened in Europe since then has pointed the wisdom of the senate action and the wisdom of the approval and support the people gave it in subsequent political action.

This is as good an occasion as another to revert to the unintentional act of kindness the Japanese did this country when it was staggering in a moral inebrity and when its President was willing in Europe to give away its shirt.

If Japan had not made use of a moment of weakness in the celebrated peace conference to demand Shantung, and because it was a moment of weakness, if all the moments were not weak, to make that claim to Chinese territory stick, America might have been swept into the league before it could sober up.

Japan threatened to bolt the conference if the Chinese province were not surrendered to it. To prevent that bolt the conference yielded and President Wilson offered his fellow countrymen a moral document which to their immediate comprehension was a cover for territorial grab.

That dose of reality was the first which started America back toward common sense, and when the league declares, as it would, for free trade, we renew our expressions of gratitude to our Asiatic friends, who knew precisely what they wanted and who made no pretenses of not trying to get it out of the body of a quondam ally.

THE SOUTHERN PRESS STRIKES OUT.

[New York World.]
There is no more encouraging feature of the campaign than the earnestness with which newspaper after newspaper in the south is doing what Senator Robinson has been emphasizing the fact that religious tolerance is implicit in the American system of democracy. Most southern observers admit that there and there is serious discontent with the Hearst nomination. Josephus Daniels' Raleigh News and Observer, surveying the North Carolina press, finds that some newspapers show "grim" acquiescence. The Winston-Salem Journal can do no more than predict that "the Democratic party will survive and that the national Democratic party will survive and that the party is committing itself to an unyielding pledge to maintain religious liberty that is not circumscribed by political expediency." Another is the Durham Morning Herald, which believes that the nomination of the Catholic George Smith is "the greatest contribution that the Democratic party has made to this country's political scene since the days of Thomas Jefferson." A third is the Charleston News and Courier. On the one hand, it champions the cause of religious tolerance. On the other, it attacks the particular kind of intolerance and interference represented by Bishop Cannon's political activities, saying that the bishop has no right "to inject prohibition into politics as a religious question, to drag it with sanctity; that the paper recognizes no power of a church to impose its discipline upon citizens, voters, and legislators; and that 'the right of a church to excommunicate is not the right to dictate to a political party.'"

These utterances represent the new south at its best.

THERE'S QUITE A DIFFERENCE.

Pieces in the paper give the length Of the new United States-Canada bridge But it doesn't say Whether the distance Means going straight across From the United States Or zig-zagging back From Canada.

How to Keep Well

HOT AND WET AIR AND HEALTH.

THIS story deals with work in cotton factories. Since there are not many workers in such factories as compared with the total population, most people who breathe through the headlines and a few sentences that follow will feel like jumping to the right. However, they may feel like sticking a little longer if they are told that it has to do with questions of comfort and health when the air is hot and wet.

Among workers in cotton factories there prevails a legend or notion, whatever you want to call it, that working in hot, wet air is bad for the health. It causes pneumonia and many other disorders. Women dislike to work in laundries because the air there is often hot and wet.

Dr. A. B. Hill investigated the cotton weaving industry. In cotton weaving they have an idea that the air must be kept hot and moist else the cotton threads will break frequently and thus lessen the output. Many people hesitate about working in such factories because they have heard that hot, moist air is bad for the health. Dr. Hill concludes that the hot, moist air is not so bad for health as between 75 and 78 degrees F., taken with the dry bulb thermometer, and the best humidity is around 75.5. Most people regard these figures as a little high.

Dr. Hill qualifies, however, by two statements. One is that the air should be kept constantly in motion by means of electric fans. The other is that the temperature and humidity must be allowed to go much above the figures set. He advises that when the air in a cotton factory registers 80 on a wet bulb thermometer, the factory should shut down and the operatives should leave the premises. This second qualification runs directly to the great practical objection to humidities and temperatures as high as those given by Hill. Whenever the temperature is allowed to go to 75 and the humidity to the same figure they both are likely to quickly shoot to a level where great discomfort prevails. For the reason of lower temperature, say 65, and a lower humidity, say 50, are more practicable.

HYGIENE FOR WOMEN.

Miss A. B. writes: Will you kindly explain the cause of pain during the menstrual period?

Answer: A young lady who suffers greatly every month, and who has to miss work for two or three days. She gives up nearly everything she eats. A physician told her it was due to nervousness.

This was about two years ago and although she was never nervous exactly, she still has the trouble.

REPLY: This is a very common complaint. It can be overcome by the simple change, namely, in all or nearly all cases, send stamped, addressed envelope for copy to Dr. W. A. Jones, 100 N. W. G. St., Chicago, Ill., and a stamped and addressed envelope with your request.

LIKES STRONG VEGETABLES.

J. T. H. writes: I am very fond of strong vegetables like onions, cabbage, turnips, and have been advised to eat them for constipation. I find they cause a strong odor.

1. Is there anything I can take to neutralize this odor or digest it? I eat them in large quantities than the average person. I sleep better, and I do not have to take a cathartic.

2. Eggs cause an odor of sulphur. Can that be avoided without giving up eating them?

3. Also, will you kindly print a list of the "How to Live With" series. The few I have heard about sound very interesting.

REPLY: 1. Not that I know of. 2. Certainly not. 3. The booklet issued to date was: I. Care of the Cured Constipation. II. Care of the Cured Hemorrhoids. III. Right's Diet. IV. CORN BELT MAKES
A WET OF A DRY
EASTERN SAVANTTells Fellow Professors
How He Backslid.

BY ARTHUR EVANS.

[Special.]
Iowa City, Ia., July 11.—[Special.]

Deploring wetness in the theoretically dry corn belt was placed before the college savants today as one of the strange wonders of prohibition. Hypocrisy and law breaking, hip liquor testing, the crime waves in cities and the drinking among the young, were brought into the picture of the Volsteadism era. Prof. Charles E. Tippetts, a Princeton man who is professor of economics at Iowa, arose at the round table and told the commonwealth conference that he had changed his attitude on the wet and dry question.

Discovery that the Iowa Bahama is dotted with well equipped cases, he indicated, has led him to become a prohibitionist.

The utterance from Prof. Tippetts came towards the close of a discussion of the eighteenth amendment, which had been of a one-sided nature, the drys being up to bat. In the hands of truth, it must be changed, said the Tippetts analysis brought the greatest outburst of applause of the session, a demonstration of almost two minutes.

More Popular than He Expected.

"I know what I am going to say is going to be popular," said Prof. Tippetts, but I'm going to say it anyway.

"When I left New Jersey four years ago I was a prohibitionist."

"Just what I have seen since I moved to Iowa four years ago confirms me prohibition cannot be enforced."

"Iowa rates as a dry state, but we in Iowa know it isn't dry. If I had drunk all the liquor offered at conventions in Iowa I wouldn't be sober yet."

A burst of applause greeted this, while the Anti-Saloon leaguers gasped. But Prof. Tippetts hadn't started yet.

"It would take forty million dollars to enforce prohibition," continued the professor. "It would take a billion dollars a year."

"How many of you would do what prohibition agents do to enforce this law? Do you think you can get honest men to do what the enforcement agents have to do?"

"Prohibition has become the most flagrant corrupt pork barrel in our history."

"When the chief enforcement officer in New York discharged agents he might 'take bribes' he found them ministered by Washington. Why? Because they were 'politically important.' Is it worth while to use corrupt methods to enforce a law followed by a trail of corruption?"

Kentuckian Raps Dry League.

The undermining of the government, state and national, by the operations of the Anti-Saloon league was brought up by Prof. J. Catron Jones of the University of Kentucky.

"When a group of prohibition leaders can read $65,000,000 and make no accounting of it," he said, "I believe in the efficacy of the law."

though it is used to influence legislation and political appointments; when they can force the appointment of this man and that man, and intimidate the congress as the Anti-Saloon league has done, then something is at work insidious and more important than prohibition."

Prof. Thomas H. Reed of the University of Michigan, who said he had been attorney for the New York Anti-Saloon league after leaving Harvard and before he became a professor, jumped up.

"If Republicans and Democrats," he said, "can spend millions trying to elect as President such men as Harding and Cox, why can't church men and the league spend millions to conquer booze?"

Farm Relief Versus Whiskey.

"If the east can tell us we can't have farm relief," said President H. L. McCracken of Penn college, Oklahoma, Ia., "then we can tell the east they can't have whiskey."

"But the east has whiskey," chorused half a dozen professors.

As an interlude Bruce E. Mahan of the State Historical society of Iowa arose and read a few recipes for the concocting of mint juleps and southern comfort cocktails, as set forth a few years back by Richard Henry Little in Two Famous Lines of Type. A smacking of the lips ensued in the conference room and later on the campus twenty-two professors asked Mr. Mahan to supply them with mimeographs.

Ross Mowry, the United States district attorney, declared that since prohibition, "crime is on the go."

"The way to enforce it is to make them like prohibition," he said. "I think Volstead did a good job. He wrote a bill they haven't been able to punch holes in yet. The reason for 1/2 per cent is that if you take near beer and pull the cork it develops alcohol. New Jersey wants to nullify the constitution by saying 3 1/2 beer is legal and non-intoxicating. Since prohibition conditions in New York and Chicago are better."

A roar of laughter greeted this.

Prohibition Hard to Locate.

Prof. Stuart Lewis of New Jersey law school, Newark, said he had been in thirty-eight states without detecting law enforcement. "Before prohibition there was no liquor in the first houses," he said. "Afterward hip liquor came into vogue. The remedy is to let each state determine the alcoholic content. Look at the straw votes and the referendum. Don't they prove Americans want moderation?"

AMERICANS WHO FLEW PLANE TO AUSTRALIA HOME

San Francisco, Cal., July 11.—(AP)—Harry Lyon and James Warner, the young Americans who winged their way into aviation history by the flight of the monoplane Southern Cross from Oakland, Cal., to Australia, returned to home shores today to receive the acclaim of thousands.

At the pier to meet them were two committees. The committee representing the city was headed by Mayor James Rolph Jr., the other committee, representing civic organizations and private citizens, was headed by Former U. S. Senator James D. Phelan.

LINDBERGH PLANE CATCHES FIRE; HE ESCAPES INJURY

Salt Lake City, Utah, July 11.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh had a narrow escape from possible serious injury today when his Curtiss Falcon biplane caught fire from a flooded carburetor just before he took off from the airport here for the Pacific coast.

Col. Lindbergh was at the controls warming up the engine when a sheet of flame shot out from the motor. His mechanic, P. Noonan, who was also in the ship, fell over backwards in escaping from the flames, then grabbed a fire extinguisher and put out the fire.

San Francisco, Cal., July 11.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here this afternoon from Salt Lake City. He declined to reveal his plans while here.

SMITH CHOOSES RASKOB AS HIS CAMPAIGN HEAD

Wet, Catholic, and Big Business Leader.

Shaver, outgoing chairman of the national committee, surrendered the gavel to Raskob this afternoon. The new chairman promptly made it plain that he, as the spirit of General Motors, felt no misgivings as to the governor's sympathies with big business. For early in his speech accepting the chairmanship and extolling the candidate, he said:

"My relations with Gov. Smith are most intimate, and no one could have higher or finer ideals with respect to the relations between government and business—big and little—than he. He believes in a tariff of honesty. The tariff plank in the Democratic platform is reassuring to business."

"Gov. Smith is a strong advocate of less government in business and of more business in government. He believes in no disturbance of honest business and his career demonstrates his fairness to labor."

The new chairman, who is "most intimate" with his candidate, also chose to speak emphatically for Smith in the matter of Volstead modification.

Duty to Tackle Volstead Evils.
"Gov. Smith," he said, "as President of these United States, with all the resources then at his command, will be able to give the people of the United States a picture of the real social conditions under the present so-called prohibition laws."

"If, as a result of careful study, he can evolve a plan for the regulation and control of the liquor question in a way that will absolutely prevent the return of the saloon, eliminate bootlegging, with its accompanying evils—graft, corruption, and murder—and restore temperate life in our country, then all fair minded men must admit his right, if not his duty, as President to promulgate such plan and to advocate such changes in our laws and constitution as may be necessary for its adoption. This is leadership—not pussy footed."

"Mud slinging always makes more enemies than friends. I should like to pledge every speaker and worker for our cause to constructive policies. In our business life today we succeed by constructive work and by having better goods to sell than our competitors. There is every reason why the Democratic party should follow this constructive business policy in this campaign. This is our job. Let others sling the mud."

Smith a Proven Leader.
"The country is in need of leadership—real and fearless. The people of the United States want leadership. Smith's leadership is proven. He is no experiment."

"Vices and pussyfooting are not synonymous." That was a reference to the governor's numerous vices of evil legislation.

"The big job to be done is to teach the citizens of our country to know the real character. They will do the rest at the polls in November. John Raskob was especially emphatic in extolling Al Smith as the farmers' friend and he declared him to be an experienced friend."

Points to New York Farmers.
"One hears much," said the Spirit of General Motors, "about agriculture and the plight of the farmers. Alfred E. Smith is experienced in this important problem. New York state stands eighth in total of agricultural production. In 1928 Gov. Smith recommended to the legislature an appropriation of $1,150,000 for agricultural schools and experimental stations. He pointed out in a recent speech that in 1916 there were only

RASKOB A $5 WEEK CLERK WHO ROSE TO MAN OF MILLIONS

New York, July 11.—(AP)—John J. Raskob, new chairman of the Democratic national committee, rose to be one of the leading financial figures of the country from a start as a $5 a week bookkeeper in a country town.

He was born 43 years ago in Lockport, N. Y. His mother was of Irish descent and his father's family had come originally from Alsace. The father died while Raskob still was an early age.

He studied bookkeeping and stenography and got a job at $5 a week. He demanded $7.50 after six months and got it, but when his next application for a raise was denied, Raskob decided to make a change.

He heard that Pierre S. Du Pont, who was running the street railways of Lorraine, O., was in need of a secretary and he wrote him, asking a salary of $1,000 a year. Du Pont sent for the country bookkeeper at the terms asked. Raskob's rise was rapid.

When he decided to buy stock in General Motors he persuaded Du Pont to go in with him. They bought 3,000 shares and somewhat to their surprise discovered that they had acquired control, because a split between the owners of the 140,000 shares gave them the balance of power. Their block of shares made them so potent a factor that Du Pont was made chairman of the board of the corporation and Raskob a director. He later became chairman of the finance committee, a position he still holds, as well as being a vice president of the E. I. Du Pont De Nemours company.

Although listed in "Who's Who" as a Republican, Raskob made it clear today that he never has been affiliated with either party. He said today he voted for President Wilson for each term.

seventeen cooperative farmers' associations in New York state and ten years later this number was increased to 1,100 active associations, doing an annual business in excess of one hundred and fifty million dollars. On Gov. Smith's recommendation, over twenty million dollars was appropriated for the suppression of bovine tuberculosis."

With a friend so experienced and so generous, the farmers could not, Mr. Raskob intimated, be unhappy during the presidency of Al Smith.

Al Smith himself, was so tickled by his day's doings that he kissed the Widow Sullivan. He kissed her a hearty, resounding smacker in the presence of Running Mate Robinson as the pair entered the Democratic club, where the national committee was meeting.

The widow of former Alderman

"Little Tim" Sullivan, long a power in Tammany Hall, cried, when the endowment was bestowed, "O, Al, you'll never grow up."

"No more do I wish to, Hannah," said Al.

Gerard Smith Treasurer.

James W. Gerard of New York City, our ambassador to Germany in war time, was reflected treasurer of the national committee and Charles A. Grawhouse of Indiana, secretary. As a balm for his disappointment in not being elected chairman, United States Senator Peter Gerry of Rhode Island was made chairman of "the advisory campaign committee" by Raskob.

Main campaign headquarters will be in New York, but Gov. Byrd, with the task on his hands of saving Virginia, is to have special headquarters in Richmond, just as Jefferson Davis did long, long ago.

The five vice chairmen chosen for the national committee include two women and are: Frank Hague of New Jersey, Gov. Harry Byrd of Virginia, former Congressman Scott-Farris of Oklahoma, former Gov. Mrs. Nellie Tayloe Ross of Wyoming, and Mrs. Florence G. Parley of Kansas.

Kendallville, Ind., July 11.—(Special.)—Charles Kinkoff, 79, of Kendallville, was struck and killed by an auto truck today while walking across the highway. Kinkoff was returning home with four companions from a fishing trip.

New York, July 11.—(AP)—In his final report to the Democratic National committee, Jesse H. Jones, retiring finance director, said that total receipts since January, 1925, had been $702,769.22. This, he added, was enough to pay off the 1924 campaign deficit of about $400,000, take care of other expenditures and leave approximately $300,000 for the new campaign.

Jones reported that of the total, $300,000 had come in as the convention fund raised by Houston citizens, $44,000 was derived from convention programs and concessions, and $464,000 was in contributions and collectable pledges.

tributed personally $60,000. Thomas R. Chadbourne of New York was credited with $18,000, and William F. Kennedy, New York contractor and close friend of Gov. Smith, with $18,000, the same amount as contributed by Norman H. Davis of New York, one time under-secretary of state. Other large contributions were listed as follows:

John Henry Kirby, Houston, Tex., $20,000; Francis P. Garvan of New York, John W. Davis, the 1924 party nominee, and Herbert Lehman, named today as the committee director of finance, $15,000 each.

POLICE DRIVE ON AUTO MASHERS; 17 BOYS SEIZED

Seventeen young motorists were taken into custody by Woodlawn police last night after several mothers in the district had complained that their daughters were not safe from automobile masher on 54th street. On orders of Capt. Joseph O'Connell, policemen James O'Brien and Daniel Ryan started a patrol of the thoroughfares between Cottage Grove and Stony Island avenue and the arrests followed. For a time the prisoners' cars thronged the street in front of the police station, and residents smiled as they learned the anti-flirt campaign was on again. Last year 225 young men were arrested in one week on similar charges.

All but two of last night's captives were later released on bond. The seventeen will be arraigned in Grand Crossing court today.

CUSTOMARY FEE FOR POSTMASTER IN GEORGIA 5%

But Witness Says It Was Not "Demanded."

Atlanta, Ga., July 11.—[Special.]—Testimony that five per cent of their salary was the customary payment to the Georgia Republican central committee by Georgia postmasters was given today before the senate patronage investigating committee as the climax of a session which introduced statements from a number of postmasters and former postmasters.

The committee has adjourned its Atlanta session and departed for Washington, where on Thursday it will hear Postmaster General Harry New at his own request. After that the committee is expected to investigate patronage charges in Mississippi.

Ex-Postmistress Is Witness.
Miss Esther McCollum, ex-postmistress at Conyers, Ga., told the committee today that she understood she must pay part of her salary in order to hold her job. Miss McCollum said she came to Atlanta, regarding an application for reappointment and talked with John W. Martin, treasurer of the state central committee.

"Did Mr. Martin demand of you a sum of money in order for you to obtain reappointment?" queried Senator Locher (Dem., O.), who conducted the questioning.

"No, he did not demand anything, but he told me it was customary for postmasters to give 5 per cent of their salary to the Republican organization," she replied.

Senator George (Dem., Ga.) introduced a number of canceled checks and pass books showing the collections and expenditures of the Republican state committee over a period of about two years. The monthly expenditures frequently exceeded $1,600 and went almost entirely for salaries of committee officials.

Says Postmasters Are "Grateful."
G. F. Flanders of Swainsboro, five times sheriff of Emanuel county and listed by Ben Davis as his appointing referee for the twelfth congressional district, was the first witness today. He admitted that he had received money for the Republican party from postmasters as well as others, but saw no harm in it.

"I am no grafter, and I never sold a postoffice," Mr. Flanders said. "I could have sold every postoffice in fourteen or fifteen counties if I had wanted to do so. I never recommended a crook or a moonshiner for office, and I never collected money off an applicant. I contributed money to the Republican party when I was postmaster and know that has been the system, because officeholders are grateful."

Mississippi Inquiry Delayed.
Biloxi, Miss., July 11.—[AP.]—Organization of a federal grand jury here today to investigate Republican methods of distributing federal patronage was delayed until tomorrow when seven of the thirty-six talesmen subpoenaed failed to appear. Mrs. Mabel Willebrandt, assistant United States attorney general, is here with a staff to assist the grand jury. Upward of 200 postmasters from over the state have been summoned to appear. Republican patronage in this state long has been a subject of controversy which revolved about Perry W. Howard, Negro assistant attorney general and national committeeman from Mississippi.

EXPLORERS FIND VAST PASTURE IN HEART OF DESERT

Bushmen Fire Grass to Halt Party.

BY W. J. MAKIN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
[Copyright 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.]
VICTORIA FALLS, South Africa, July 11.—After many exciting adventures, the Kalahari desert expedition, of which THE TRIBUNE correspondent was a member, today reached Victoria Falls. The party traversed 1,000 miles of desert, swamps and forests. Several times the expedition was near distress.

We discovered an enormous, rich ranching country in the middle of the desert. Herds of wildebeest, zebra, giraffe and buck lions and a few bushmen are the only inhabitants. It is equal to the best South American ranching land.

Bushmen Menace Explorers.
The bushmen were highly suspicious of our expedition and to prevent us from getting out started a bush fire over a front of twelve miles, which swept toward us and our two motor trucks and stores of petrol. Only by racing the cars through the sand and thorn bushes and luckily discovering a burned over portion did we escape.

The six white men comprising the expedition had to travel day and night without sleep in order to traverse this, the worst territory in Africa. We were the first white men to accomplish this journey. Natives whom we met fled from us in terror.

Find Ancient Sea Bed.
We also explored the former inland sea, Lake Ngami. We discovered dry river beds where rivers equal to the Zambezi once flowed.

We found a few whites living precariously on the western edge of the desert. The route we crossed from east to west, with well borings for water, may provide them with an outlet to civilization.

Heavy Tax Aimed
as K. O. for Ring
Sport, Gene Avers

Speculator, N. Y., July 11.—[Special.]—Gene Tunney paused for a moment today from the serious business of preparing for the defense of his world's heavyweight championship against Tom Heeny to air his views of politicians, especially congressmen.

It was the imposition of the 25 per cent tax on admissions to prize fights which started the discussion. Tunney said he thought the last congress voted this tax with the intention, not of raising any appreciable amount of money for the expenses of the government, but of taxing the prize fight industry to extinction.

He opined they want to extinguish the prize fight industry, not because they think it is a low or immoral trade which should be discouraged, but because it is a friendly business and they are envious of the heavyweights, whoever he may happen to be, with his earning power of $500,000 or $1,000,000 a year.

LIGHTNING KILLS GRID STAR WHO
FISHES IN STORM

Wolffboro, N. H., July 11.—[Special.]—Harold Hamm of Arlington, Mass., star full back of the Dartmouth college football team last year, was instantly killed today by a bolt of lightning while fishing on Lake Winnepesaukee during one of the most severe electrical storms ever experienced in this region.

Hamm, a counselor at a boys' camp here, was fishing on the end of a wharf on Red Head island in the lake, when the storm broke. A bolt struck the water some yards away, traveled along the surface toward the wharf and hit the end of a steel fishing rod which Hamm was using.

Hamm was a sophomore at Dartmouth last year when he won a berth on the varsity football team after starring on the freshman team the year before.

STEPHENSON IS FOES' NEMESIS
IN TWO RALLIESHartnett's Homer
Ties Up Score.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.
Timely contributions by the enemy simplified matters to such an extent for the Cubs yesterday that they were able to make it two in a row over Boston's Braves, the margin being 4 to 2.

And, because of happenings elsewhere in the circuit, the victory served to hoist the north side to a point only one and one-half laps below second place.

One of the charitable acts that BIGGS STEPHENSON proved invaluable to the victory was a boot by Farrell. It led to a run at a time when a 2 to 2 tie existed. The other was a wide peg for which Chief Hornsby was responsible. This also opened the door to a rally. Outside of these things, the show was conducted in high class fashion, particularly by the pitcher, who was without a point only one and one-half laps below second place.

OWNERS VIE FOR STAR JOCKEYS IN BIG CRETE STAKE

Pool May Ride Chicago in Lincoln Special.

The scramble for jockeys to ride in Saturday's Lincoln Fields Sportmen's sweepstakes, which will engage the west's leading handicap horses, was on at Lincoln Fields yesterday. Fred M. Grabner was trying to land Earl Pool to ride Chicago. Stuyvesant Peabody was reported to have made an offer to Eddie Ambrose to pilot Flat Iron. Boots Durnell was seeking Laverne Fator for Handy Mandy, while Hal Price Headley of Kentucky was endeavoring to get the suspension on his jockey, H. Richards, lifted so that he might ride Mike Hall.

Stuyvesant Peabody, president of the Lincoln Fields jockey club, yesterday put up a place of plate to go to the owner of the winner. "It will be a very nice piece of plate," Mr. Peabody explained, "because I expect to win it myself with Flat Iron."

There were all sorts of wild guesses last night on what the final mutual odds will be in this four horse race. The best price maker in Chicago said he believed the odds would be about as follows:

Flat Iron ..... $3.10
Mike Hall ..... $2.10
Chicago ..... $2.10
Handy Mandy ..... $4.10

Cubs Defeat Braves, 4 to 2; Approach Top

Cuyler walked. Wilson was subdued on a fly to right. Stephenson then walloped a hard grass cutter toward right and Hornsby flagged it with his gloved hand but had to peg while off balance and the ball eluded Shuler, permitting Maguire to score from second and Cuyler and Stephenson to hike to third and second, respectively. Steve was credited with a single. Grimm was handed a pass that jammed the bases but with this opportunity before him Hartnett merely popped up over the infield.

After the third the Cub infield functioned with such speed that Blake had nothing troubling him until the eighth when a scratch hit in front of the plate by Taylor precipitated something worth thinking about. After Taylor's dinky roller Burrus waited for De laeay and was safe when Maguire, who probably had exhausted his supply of snappy stops, fumbled. A couple of pinch runners were summoned and both were set for a mad dash when Richbourg tore off a long drive to deep left center. This was where Stephenson galloped back and pulled the ball out of the air. After this Blake went along smoothly. Boss McCarthy hopes to see Charley Root do the same today.

CASWELL BUYS BUILDING AT 115 NORTH DEARBORN

Andrew B. Caswell, vice president of the Northern Trust company, has acquired the building at 115 North Dearborn street, between Washington and Randolph streets, for an undisclosed consideration. The land fronts sixty feet on Dearborn, with a depth of eighty feet, and is improved with an eight story office structure.

Mr. Caswell acquired the fee from Constantine Tyrrell Ritchie, Anna W. Carlsen, Elizabeth L. Williams, Albert T. Williams, Elmer E. Williams, and Alice T. Williams, all of whom reside in New York, Louisville and California. He secured the ninety-nine year leasehold from Isaac Kohnberg. The lease is dated March 20, 1925. It is stated that no change in the improvement is contemplated for the time being.

Mark Levy & Brother were brokers in the transaction. The sellers of the fee were represented by John V. Carne of New York and by Henry G. Miller of Whitman, Miller & Coon of Chicago. Abraham Lidsky and Reuben J. Feldman were attorneys for Mr. Kohnberg.

TIGHTER MONEY SENDS PRICES ON CURB DOWNWARD

New York, July 11.—(AP)—Curb market

prices declined today under the pressure of continued selling, indicated by firmer money rates, calling of loans and a few generally tighter credit situation. A few issues moved against the trend, but virtually every group was weak.

Tubas led the decline with a loss of 24 points. Losses of 2 to 5 points were registered by Bancitaly, Evans Auto

Loading B, Fox Theater A, Nichols and

Shepard, Warner Brothers Pictures and others. Mining issues lost their early strength, with Noranda and Noranda each closing about 1 point lower. Automobile issues were pressed for sale.

Sparks-Winnington declining 5 points and Auburn Auto and Safe-T-Stat about

2 each.

Among the few strong spots were

Crocker-Wheeler Electric, which advanced a point to a new top at 80 on a small turnover; Spanish and General, which touched a new high for the third consecutive day this time at 7 1/2, and DuPont, which advanced 10 points.

Utilities and oils were among the weakest issues. Vacuum oil closed more than 2 points down, Gulf 2 and Standard of Kentucky about 4. Eureka Pipe Line of Kentucky, which advanced 1 point, was exceptions, gaining 4 points net.

SUGAR.

NEW YORK, July 11.—(AP)—SUGAR—Raw

today was at the lowest levels of the year, at 4.12 for spot, duty paid. Raw futures closed at 4.12, down 11 points on the present July position and 4 to 5 points on later deliveries. Trading was quiet, with but for some weak local transactions activating 184,000 tons. The refined market was unchanged at 5.55 to 5.60 for the granulated. Prices as wired to Lombard.

STEADY SELLING BREAKS WHEAT; CORN IS HIGHER

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

An unusual amount of criticism of the government crop report, particularly on corn, was made by traders in Chicago. While there was a difference of around $25,000,000 in corn between the average of the private estimates and the government's, a statement issued by the department of agriculture late in the day said there was no indication of putting out a revised estimate.

W. F. Callender, head of the crop reporting board, pointed out that while the government estimate was materially below private estimates, the variation might be explained by the fact that the government figures were compiled from reports collected a week or 10 days later than the figures used by private statisticians. There was also a difference of around 2,000,000 acres in making up the various reports.

Wheat Prices Decline

Strength in Liverpool led to some buying of wheat early, with reports that Russia might reenter the market as a buyer abroad, but there was persistent selling by longs and local professional, and also pressure from houses with southwestern and northwestern connections, and the market broke 1/4% from the early high, with December at the new low of $1.04 1/4. Corn was up as much as 3/4c at the start, as the bullish construction placed on the government report, but lost the upturn later and then rallied toward the close, with the finish 1/4% higher. Oats were unchanged to 1/4c higher, and rye 1/4c lower.

The trade had the impression that a leading local professional was a free seller of wheat the greater part of the day, while support was lacking, and with the continued favorable crop prospects in the Canadian northwest and a lack of aggressive export buying the decline was easily attained. Winnipeg closed 1/4c lower, while Liverpool, after being 1/4c higher, weakened and closed 1/4c lower.

Corn market fluctuated erratically with a range of 3/4c. December opening over a range of 1/4c, but the trade was more inclined to believe the private than the government crop estimates and there was free selling by longs, and also considerable local pressure on the September, with short covering making a rally from the inside figures. Country offerings to arrive were reported as fairly liberal, but in the main held above buyers' views. Shipping demand was fair. Weather conditions over the belt were again favorable for the new crop.

Outside interest in oats was small, and the market was influenced largely by the action of other grains. There was some commission house buying early

CASH-GRAIN NEWS

Further demand for cash grain at the seaboard was rather heavy, with sales of 400,000 bu of wheat and 30,000 bu of corn, and 1,000,000 bu of feed.

And Now Blondes Are Claiming to Become Brunettes!

A young correspondent asks if it is possible for a girl to change her type, and how? She's a blonde and would like to be a brunette.

Gracious, I hope Anita Loos isn't going to turn as many heads with her new book as I suspect her of having influenced blondes with her other novel. If men are marrying them—the brunettes, I mean—I don't think any advice from this department is going to keep blonde locks blonde.

So, with misgivings, I offer my advice. If you're a blonde and a natural one—be it and stay it. If you're a peroxide and were formerly a brunette, get back to your original color if you want to change your type. There's no substantial evidence to prove that any type is smarter than another type when it comes to carrying a provider for the home nest. Unless it is the natural type—and I don't know if investigation would bear me out in that, either.

But why a nice blonde would want to be a brunette isn't understandable because she never could be as nice a brunette as she could be her own blonde self. Dyed hair at its clearest is not one-half so charming as natural tones.

If my correspondent wanted to change her type without benefit of hair dye I could suggest ways that it could be done legitimately and perhaps attractively. I mean, she might with the turn of a lock make a fluffy little head out of a simple straight haired one. She might turn become vivacious and gay rather than a wilful, simple little soul. She might feel herself a different type by adopting the bouffant style of dress instead of the straight tailored things.

Sometimes this type changing experiment works out most successfully. Didn't we see, with the hair clipping heira in its first virulent form, any number of women who were vague and colorless suddenly blossoming forth as creatures of another younger decade? Dress inhibitions were clipped off with the hair. And that somber dignity that went with a large mop of hair set firmly atop the crown of the head came sliding down humanly with the close cut under a rogusly little hat.

With dress and coiffure you can make over your type if you want to—but I'd let the dye alone until you feel you have to resort to them to convert you into a younger looking wife or employe.

BEAUTY ANSWERS

L. H. H.: THE PERMANENT wave has a drying effect on the hair, in many cases. This may be overcome by massaging olive oil into the scalp. The night before you shampoo your hair massage the oil into the hair and scalp, and allow it to remain on during the night. In the morning wash the hair carefully. Send a stamped, addressed envelope for shampooing instructions.

B. H. N.: THE EYE SHADOW paste is used more generally for evening wear, although it applied during the day it may scarcely be detected in the daylight. It is applied to the upper lid with the finger tip and gently rubbed in until there is only a shadow. It comes in colors to match the eyes.

J. N.: HERE IS A TONIC for the eyebrows and eyelashes: Yellow vaseline, two ounces; oil of rosemary, 15 drops; oil of lavender, 15 drops. Mix thoroughly, and apply with a tiny eyebrow brush.

FARM AND GARDEN BY FRANK RIDGWAY

Stray cats and dogs often play havoc with poultrymen, especially near cities. To protect chickens, turkeys and other fowl against these night prowlers, it is often necessary to make use of the old shotgun.

Profits are often wiped out over night by the raid of a single cat or dog. A turkey raiser near Chicago recently reported losses of good sized young turkeys to stray cats.

It is just as important to protect poultry from cats, dogs, and wild animals such as the skunk, and mink, as it is to use well bred birds, high quality feed, and modern schemes of managing the broods. Profits are not any too high even on the well managed flocks, so it pays to watch all the leaks.

Some of the best poultry raisers in Illinois average much less than $1 a hen. Those who watch the cats and dogs along with other hazards in raising chickens are producing eggs may keep their profit above the $3 mark. One-third of the best flock owners out of a group of 264 Illinois farmers made an average profit of $238 a hen last year. The 24 cooperated with the state college in keeping their records and their average profit for each bird was only 86 cents.

Their profits were less last year than the year before because egg prices were lower, feed prices were relatively higher, and losses in brooding were greater.

The flocks averaged 141 layers with an average production of 113 eggs each for the twelve months. The best birds averaged 147 eggs and the poorest ones 103.

PRINCE OF WALES POINTED OUT AS A GOOD WILL 'AD'

English Royalty Is Called Industry Builder.

Detroit, Mich., July 11.—(Special.)—This was the "International day" at the 24th International Advertising association convention, now in session here.

Among the speakers were Commander H. B. Ellis, chairman of the Publicity club of London; Harry H. Culver of Culver City, Cal.; Etienne de Mour, president Union Continentale de la Publicite, Paris; Dr. Max Riesenbratt, director of public publicity, Berlin, Germany; Dr. Macel Knecht, general secretary La Matia, Paris, and Charles F. Kettering, director of General Motors research laboratories, Detroit.

At the business session today, Charles Younggreen of Milwaukee, Wis., was elected president. Frank McCure of Chicago was named secretary.

Royal Family a Factor.

A plea for development of international good will through advertising was made by Commander Ellis, who pointed to the Prince of Wales as an example of the advertising value of personal contacts in world relations. "The British royal family's interest in the industry of Britain and in our great industrial affairs has been no small factor in their development," Commander Ellis said.

"Especially valuable has been the contribution of the Prince of Wales, who has earned through the friends he has made in all parts of the world, the title of 'Britain's Great Trade Ambassador'."

Scientific Advertising.

Mr. Kettering discussed "An Engineer's Viewpoint on Advertising." "Anything is scientific as long as we do not understand what it is all about," he said. "As soon as we begin to see into it, it is no longer scientific."

Mr. Culver voiced an appeal for aid to commercial aviation pointed to Detroit as one of the leaders in this industry.

"As a result of the broad vision and keen insight of its commercial aviation interests, Detroit has built up, in less than three years, its aircraft industry to a point where it has 40 factories operating at capacity, involving a pay roll of $2,500,000," he said.

"Today 100 cities in the United States have airports. There should be 5,000."

The board of club presidents chose Minneapolis as the 1935 convention city.

FIGHT OVER FRUIT IN SHADOW OF KING BEN'S TOMB

Boston Harbor, Mich., July 11.—(AP)—A state of open hostility existed tonight between two factions in the House of David colony, once a united realm under the iron rule of the late "King" Benjamin F. Funnell.

The bitterness between the rival groups seeking to rule the cult since "King" Benjamin's death last November led to clashes today on the colony grounds.

Deputy sheriffs were called out to quell a riot participated in by about 40 colonists. Some of the women of the colony fought over possession of 14 crates of cherries raised in a colony orchard. A leader of one of the factions was arrested for attacking a colony officer.

The rival groups are supporting "Queen" Mary Funnell, widow of Benjamin, and W. H. Dewhurst, colony attorney, both of whom again in the mantle once held by "King Ben."

Elmer Regrets Passing of Old Radio Favorites

Orchestra and Quartet in Their Last Program.

BY ELMER DOUGLASS.

It was with distinct sadness that we learned the Silvertown orchestra and male quartet, which for years has broadcast from New York, through W-G-N, 8:30 to 9:30, was giving its final program and drew the curtain last evening. They bade us Good-Bye orchestra and vocally and by several other composers. These programs have throughout the years been consistently light and cheerful and beyond criticism, and we of the radio audience are fully appreciative of all they have done for us in making our lives richer and the happier.

All of which makes me think that in retrospect we all shall be grateful for the present series of Victor Herbert's operettas from New York through KTW, 8 to 9:30. The work last evening was "The Viceroy." Though this particular opera did not make any especially attractive appeal, it was devoted to one composer, which of itself makes for strength as compared with miscellaneous programs. Yet I am sure that the over-personal attitude of the announcer will offset the perfection that it otherwise might attain. The announcer's own statement that "this is a mutual admiration society here in the studio tonight," exactly states the case. Experience shows that it is best that the relations between announcer and entertainer be an impersonal one.

The series of Gilbert and Sullivan operettas from New York through WMAQ, 9 to 9:30, are so far as I can see, admirably done in all respects and wholly free from faults. "The Gondoliers" was the operetta last evening—melodious, plenty of swing and go to it, and novel for its many changes in key signatures.

QUESTION RADIO BOARD'S RIGHT TO CURB STATIONS

Washington, D. C., July 11.—(AP)—The constitutionality of the federal radio commission's ruling refusing broadcasting rights to 143 stations beginning Aug. 1, was challenged today at the commission's hearing on application of certain of the stations for retention of their licenses.

Nicholas Schleider, station WBBM, Union City, N. J., and C. A. Sorenson, station KICK, Red Oak, Ia., two of the dozen stations heard today, were overruled on the plea, but they noted exceptions for use in possible recourse to a court of law.

Schleider charged the 1927 radio act is unconstitutional as it provides for taking property without due process of law.

Sorenson asserted the power to terminate licenses was illegally delegated to the board by congress. His case was heard before Commissioners Sykes and Pickard. He declared this was improper as a quorum of the commission was not present.

Nolan Beer Trade Profit Estimated at $5,000,000

John F. Nolan, against whose property Mrs. Mabel G. Reinecke, collector of internal revenue, has filed a lien to collect $1,561,000 income taxes, interest and penalties, amassed a fortune estimated at $5,000,000 from his traffic in beer during four years, government agents revealed yesterday.

The beer, the agents said, was bought from the Primo Products company for $14 a barrel and sold, after it had been "needed," for not less than $20, depending on market conditions. Criminal prosecution on charge of violation of the prohibition law and evasion of taxes may follow the tax lien suit, it was said.

SPEED UP ONE MURDER TRIAL, ANOTHER LAGS

Exhaust Venire in Hunt for Jurors.

As the state pushed ahead yesterday at rapid speed in presenting murder evidence against two youths before Judge Harry B. Miller, a snag was struck in Judge Frank Comerford's court where an effort is being made to select a jury pledged to the death penalty to determine the fate of four other youths charged with the murder of Pearl Eggleston, under at a Beryv movie theater.

The jury in Judge Miller's court was selected Tuesday, after two days of work, and by the adjournment of court last night the state had all but completed its case. Two witnesses, Henry Busching and David Valente, identified John Draus, 16, and Harry Klethyka, 20, as the murderers of Harry W. Harris, druggist at 500 North Hamilton avenue.

Venire Is Exhausted.

The venire was exhausted without any additions to the jury in the trial of Stanley Thomas, 19, Albert Mas, 21, John Tulas, 22, and Stanley Duran, 20.

More than 50 veniremen were examined yesterday and all said they had scruples against the death penalty or had an opinion as to the guilt of the men charged with murdering the girl under during a robbery.

Arouses Ire of Judge.

James Carney, 1782 East 71st place, aroused the ire of Judge Comerford and Assistant State's Attorneys Harold Levy and Emmet Byrne when he said he had an opinion. He said he studied three years at De Paul university and the judge told him that the university "wasted three years on him."

"A man with a mind is capable of fulfilling the law's requirements," said the judge. "Any man should be able to set aside an opinion he has from reading the newspapers and decide a case on the evidence as presented."

'TOMMY' RUSSELL, 1ST FAUNTLEROY, DIES IN GOTHAM

New York, July 11.—(AP)—Thomas Henry Russell, who achieved fame on the stage when he originated the role of "Little Lord Fauntleroy," died of cirrhosis of the liver last night at Bellevue hospital. He was 45 years old.

Russell, who was a brother of Annie Russell, the actress, had played with Sarah Bernhardt, Edwin Booth, Madame Modjeska and Alla Nazimova, but left the theater to become a dealer in art. He was credited with bringing many of Europe's costly masterpieces to this country.

His widow, Mrs. Susan Powell Russell, and two sisters, Annie Russell and Mrs. John J. Carty, wife of the vice president of the American Telephone and Telegraph company, survive.

J. A. Steinmetz, Inventor of Aircraft Devices, Dies

Philadelphia, Pa., July 11.—(AP)—Major Joseph A. Steinmetz, 53, former president of the Aero Club of Pennsylvania, and inventor of aircraft devices to combat enemy craft, died today. His illness forced his retirement six months ago from Janney, Steinmetz & Co., which he founded.

Flying Pests and Crawling Pests Killed by Entirely Different Methods

SOME people use Black Flag Liquid to kill all kinds of insects. Others use Black Flag Powder. Both are equally deadly to all insects. Here is the way some people prefer to use them. To kill flies, mosquitoes, and other flying pests—it is most convenient to use Black Flag Liquid. For it is so easy to spray the liquid in a room. Its fine mist fills the room. It gets the flies, or mosquitoes, their buzzing cease. And they drop down—dead!

Remember, both liquid and powder are required to effectively rid your home of pests. Spray Black Flag Liquid to kill flying pests. Blow Black Flag Powder to kill crawling pests, including ants.
